Camp Under Siege 66 Days

Viet Cong Snipers Hit Relief Column

By RONALD I. DEUTSCH
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Government forces on the march to relieve the besieged Duc Co special forces camp were attacked by snipers today, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

"Cavalry elements attached to road clearing troops on Route 19 took some sniper fire Monday with light casualties," the spokesman said.

Communist forces have laid siege to the camp 220 miles northeast of Saigon near the Cambodian border for 66 days. Twelve Americans and more than 150 mountain tribesmen and Vietnamese are in the camp.

The Viet Cong hits the Duc Co camp daily with mortars and small arms fire. Two Americans and 20 Vietnamese have been killed since June 3.

Vietnamese Paratroops
A large Vietnamese paratrooper force was sent in last Thursday to lift the siege but was driven back into the camp lines when it tried to move out against the Viet Cong.

Ground action in other areas continued light over the weekend and into today.

U.S. spokesman gave this report of military actions: Government forces made a sweep through rice paddies near Ba Gia, four miles west of Quang Ngai, killing 17 Viet Cong.

land capturing nine. There were no government losses.

A second search and destroy operation was launched 20 miles west of Quang Ngai, but there were no immediate reports of results.

A Viet Cong regiment is known to be in the area around Quang Ngai, and the two operations apparently were aimed at preventing small enemy units from joining up for another big offensive. Quang Ngai city is 330 miles northeast of Saigon.

Militia Operation
A small group of government militiamen killed seven Viet Cong and captured 60 pounds of TNT in an operation six miles south of Da Nang. No government casualties were reported.

Viet Cong harassment continued in Chuong Thien Province, 100 to 120 miles southwest of Saigon. It was the fourth time in the last five nights that the Communists opened up on watchtowers or outposts. Small arms or mortar fire were used against five targets, but no government or Viet Cong casualties were reported.

In a government ambush 10 miles southwest of Saigon in Binh Chanh district, two Viet Cong were killed. Government casualties were described as very light.

A U.S. Marine patrol fought an unknown number of Viet Cong in the vicinity of Chu Lai Saturday, capturing two Viet Cong. There were no Marine casualties.

Another Marine patrol killed three Viet Cong in a fire fight in

Move Brings Dispute Over Indonesia

SINGAPORE (AP) — This island state pulled out of the 23-month-old Federation of Malaysia today and immediately became embroiled with Federal Prime Minister Abdul Rahman over relations with Indonesia.

Premier Lee Kuan Yew of Singapore told a news conference Singapore wants to be friends with Indonesia, which has sworn to crush Malaysia. Singapore once carried on a flourishing trade with Indonesia and obviously wants to regain it.

Lee declared, however, that cooperation with Indonesia would be impossible unless the Indonesians recognize Singa-

Lee's Dream Shattered

Singapore Crisis Causes Bitterness

SINGAPORE (AP) — Singapore's Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew has long been proud of his ability to plan ahead. "I believe that politics must be played like chess," he once said.

But the separation of his island state from Malaysia, an enemies now come from far announced today, was something right. Lee did not plan on it. At a news conference, Lee, 42, was chiefly responsible for wept as he spoke of his ambition the action of Malaysian Prime for a Singapore united with the Minister Abdul Rahman in forcing Singapore to quit the federal Malay mainland.

"The peoples of these two states are connected by geography and kinship. But now the dream is shattered," he said. "Singapore will never rejoin Malaysia in my lifetime," he said. "We will have to rule."

2,500 on Hand for Welcome

First Marines to Land In Viet Nam Back Home

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Peared delighted by the welcome the first U.S. combat unit to land in Viet Nam for combat duty is home.

Some 1,000 Marines who left the United States over a year ago as part of the 3rd Battalion, 9th Marine Regiment, steamed wouldn't back them. They needed and wanted the wholehearted support of the people.

They were met by relatives, a Marine band and the prospect of a 30-day leave. "It's all over now," one Leatherneck had stenciled across his dufflebag.

The phrase referred to 13 months of overseas duty that included 100 days on board ships and four months dug in around Da Nang Air Base in South Viet Nam.

Marines Cheer

As the troops transport Gen Breckinridge pulled up to the pier, the band played "California Here I Come."

The Marines let out a cheer. The band broke into "The Marine Hymn."

"Play it again play it again," the Leathernecks cheered.

The sun tanned, fatigued Marines shouldered their dufflebags and walked from the Breckinridge to where about 2,500 friends and relatives were waiting to welcome them.

A color guard snapped to attention. Lt. Col. Charles E. McPartlin, battalion commander, observed the demonstration and remarked:

"I have never seen such spirit. You just can't get them down."

Interspersed in the crowd were signs declaring:

"Pacifism Not Peace"

"Pacifism is not peace"

"Compromise is not possible with communism"

"Our Marines are fighting for freedom"

Klan Stages Silent March, Massive Rally in Americus

U. S., Confederate Flags Drape
7-Block Route to Courthouse

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — The anyone who could not control Ku Klux Klan staged a silent march and massive rally Sunday only a few hours before Negroes held their own demonstration.

State troopers and city police stood by in large numbers as each group gathered. There were no incidents.

White vs. Negro
Klan members and white sympathizers marched 600 strong to the street corner where Andrew Whatley, a 21-year-old white man, was shot. A civil rights demonstration was being held several blocks away at the time of the shooting. Two Negroes have been indicted on murder charges in his death.

Memorial Service
After the Klan marchers knelt for a brief memorial service, they trooped behind flags of the United States and the Confederacy along a seven-block route to the Sumter County Courthouse where another 400 persons waited.

Seventy-five robed and hooded Klansmen were scattered along the procession. Others wore sport coats emblazoned with Klan emblems. There were no masks, which are outlawed by Georgia law.

The demonstrators included many women and some teenagers. Some walked hand-in-hand. A Klan official had told them:

Citizens of Nagasaki Bow Heads in Prayer on Holocaust Anniversary

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP) — zami Cathedral at a memorial. The citizens of Nagasaki bowed their heads in prayer today to mark the 20th anniversary of history that the second target of the atomic bomb blast that left their ancient city in ruins.

The bells of Buddhist temples and Christian churches tolled and sirens wailed at 11:02 a.m. the time the second of America's wartime nuclear weapons exploded over Nagasaki and killed an estimated 75,000 persons.

Three days earlier a U.S. bomber had dropped the first bomb over Hiroshima.

Eighteen thousand persons crowded into Nagasaki's Peace Park to hear a message from Prime Minister Eisaku Sato. He promised that Japan, as the only nation to suffer the ravages of the bomb, would redouble its efforts to get a worldwide ban on nuclear weapons.

Memorials Held
Delegates of the divided, international ban-the-bomb movement crouched on the grass. In another part of the city, 1,100 Roman Catholics knelt in tra-memorial statue in the Peace Park and annual ceremonies. Sunday night, 100 survivors of the bomb met and passed a resolution saying they would not welcome a meeting next year of the Conference against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs, the original ban-the-bomb group which now has been reduced to a splinter group dominated by the Chinese Communists. A rival group meeting here also denounced the conference as pro-Communist and anti-American.

Appeal by Pope
Pope Paul VI, in a new appeal Sunday for a ban on nuclear weapons, described the atomic bombing of Hiroshima as an "infernal massacre" and an "outrage against civilization."

He spoke at his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo, Italy, before 10,000 tourists and Italians.

"We pray that the world may never again see such a wretched day as that of Hiroshima; that never again may men put their confidence, their calculation and their prestige into such disastrous and dishonorable weapons," he said.

Johnson Activates $280 Million Plan

Measure Covers Construction
Of Health Research Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson goes to the National Institute of Health today to sign a $280-million measure covering construction of health research facilities.

He also intended to stop in the heart surgery section. The President was felled by a heart attack in 1955, and White House Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers said Friday:

"Some of their research, he believes, helped save his own life after his heart attack."

The construction legislation extends for three years a program begun in 1956, and in which $320 million already has been distributed to 399 institutions through 1,263 construction grants.

50-50 Share
The grants go to universities, hospitals, medical schools and nonprofit groups where they are matched on a 50-50 basis.

The 1965 measure also grants authority to the Public Health Service to enter into research contracts with private agencies conditions, mental illness, and creates three additional neurological diseases and blind-assistant secretaries in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

"If they do that, the obvious intention is to harm our interests," Rahman replied. "We can't allow that to happen. We would take action."

Rahman did not elaborate, but he noted that the separation agreement signed by his government and Singapore included a pledge "not to undertake to enter into any treaty or agreement with a foreign country which may be detrimental to

Mr. Glenn H. Arthur
Director of Sales
The Post-Crescent
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Arthur:

There are few opportunities in the course of every day business when one has the opportunity to express the pleasure of services received. Such an opportunity has come up and I would like you to know how pleased we are at Van Steen Ford with the service we have received from The Post-Crescent.

As you know The Post-Crescent was used extensively in the announcement of our firm name change. I want you to know how pleased I was and am with the fine cooperation we received from your advertising staff. Needless to say this particular promotion was extremely effective in establishing the type of public image we desire. The results were immediate and, we trust, lasting.

I feel that a special mention here is necessary. As you know the increase in new car sales always creates a used car problem for the new car dealer. We have not been faced with the problem in this area. Our used car stock, I'm pleased to say, turns over at a much better than an average rate.

The wonderful assistance we have received from Bob Mancel of your advertising staff has aided us greatly in moving our used cars. Bob has been most helpful in coming up with successful ideas and promotions. He has always been ready with a helpful suggestion on layout and copy.

Cordially,
S. H. Van Steen

Just as Van Steen Motors knows — and obviously appreciates — the impact of consistent, well-planned advertising in the Daily and Sunday Post-Crescent . . . just as they know that good advertising service results in "better than average" sales . . . just as they know that good advertising service is the result of personal, interested attention to varying merchandise needs by experienced sales representatives trained to anticipate buyer habits and create buyer demand: so can you, Mr. Merchant, come to know these higher profit advantages by relying on the advertising impact of your newspaper . . .

Carbon Copy Season Ahead for Television

Imitation, the Switch or Refresh of Successful Shows to Clutter Airways

BY JINGO

The carbon copy, the switch, the reverse switch and the refresh will be with us again on television this fall. The late Fred Allen pinned it down best of all when he said:

"In television imitation is the sincerest form of flattery."

The imitations this fall will be everywhere.

"The Fugitive," for example, has spawned three new shows, including "Branded," which was a late starter last season.

"The Fugitive" is about a man looking for a killer to clear himself. This produced "Branded," about a man looking for chances to prove himself heroic after being falsely accused of being a coward.

Now coming up in the '65-'66 season: "Amnesia Victim"

"A Man Called Shenandoah," a man suffering from amnesia wanders through the west seeking his identity.

"Run For Your Life"—man doomed to die of incurable disease wanders around world looking for instant excitement and fun.

The success of the James Bond movies brought "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." to television.

"I Spy" is about a pair of international agents touring the world in the guises of a tennis pro and his man Friday.

"Get Smart" stars Don Adams as a bumbling spy.

"The Wild Wild West" puts a James Bond-type spy in a plush railroad car office in the old west.

"Honey West" stars Anne Francis as a female spy who keeps up with the cloak and knife.

Helen O'Connell Hospitalized From Overdose of Drugs

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Singer Helen O'Connell, who reached fame with the Dorsey bands in 1940's, was admitted to a hospital Sunday night in serious condition from what police said was a possible overdose of barbiturates.

Officers said Miss O'Connell, 45, was found unconscious at the wheel of her car in the wrong lane of traffic. Police said they spotted her auto weaving along the road but that by the time they overtook it, her car had stopped.

"Burke's Law" will become "Amos Burke-Secret Agent." "McHale's Navy" set the TV trend for wacky characters in uniform. Due this fall: "Mr. Roberts," "The Wackiest Ship in the Army," "F Troop" and "Hogan's Heroes."

For supernatural fun there is "Bewitched" and "My Favorite Martian." For the new season there will be "I Dream of Jeannie" (about a 2000-year-old but still-gorgeous doll in a bottle) and "My Mother the Car," about a talking car.

Feminine Lorne Greene The success of "Bonanza" has now spawned "The Big Valley," starring Barbara Stanwyck in a character she described as being "a feminine version of Lorne Greene."

"Wagon Train" has faded away but now we will have "Convoy," the story of transatlantic ship crossings during World War II. Even NBC executives are referring to the show as "a wet Wagon Train."

ABC's "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" gave CBS an idea on a higher plane. Result, "Lost in Space." Maybe you would rather fight than switch. But why fight? Even when you switch (the television dial) you get the same thing under another name.

Sheinwold Non-Expert Player Must Be Cautious

A simple but very practical philosophy of bidding was expressed some years ago by a group of English experts. Bid what you think you can make. When a non-expert adopts this principle he must bid more modestly because he cannot make as many tricks as an expert.

Four spades is the expert bid with the South hand. South is sure to make the contract if West has the ace of diamonds, and has a fine chance if East has the king of spades. A non-expert's chance is not quite so fine.

The actual declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and tried a finesse with the queen of spades. When this worked he led a club to dummy and tried another finesse. The jack of spades held, but West showed out.

South next led a diamond to dummy's king, but East won with the ace. "Down one," South announced as he conceded a trump, a heart, and two diamonds. "No score; I had honors."

And South smiled smugly. A weaker player might have forgotten to claim the honors, but South was much too good for that.

Too Soon
South gave up too soon. There was no need to lose a trump. A trick even though dummy had 4 no more trumps to lead through East.

After winning the second spade finesse, South should lead a club to dummy and ruff a club. Only then should he lead a diamond.

East takes the ace of diamonds and returns the jack of diamonds to dummy's queen. South ruffs dummy's last club and gets out of his hand with a heart or a diamond.

By this time South has taken eight tricks and still has the ace of trumps left. Sooner or later South will make both of his.

Kaukauna Hospital Baby Alumni Day

A Little Boy's Delight May be Mom's distress, as is the case with ice cream. Mark Benotch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Benotch, above, does a fair job of getting the treat all over his shirt. At left, clowns are supposed to be fun, but little Marcie Jean Gipp, daughter of the Maynard Gipp, is not so sure she likes this one. The clown is Nancy Schroeder.

KAUKAUNA — Summer is the season for class reunions and graduates of Kaukauna Hospital's maternity ward met at "Baby Alumni day" Thursday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars grounds.

It was a day especially planned for the youngsters, with games, rides and that perennial favorite, ice cream, on hand for the young alumni. Of course, there's nothing mothers would rather talk about than babies. There was plenty of time for that while the children occupied themselves in the carnival-like atmosphere.

Clowns peddled their wares of free balloons to delight the youngsters. Under the smiling, painted faces were daughters of hospital auxiliary members.

Thursday's get-together was the tenth annual event sponsored by the Kaukauna Hospital Auxiliary since the hospital opened in March, 1955. Since that time nearly 6,000 babies have been born there.

John and George, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mayo, seem to be showing off their new teeth to all interested parties. The boys attended the Kaukauna Hospital baby alumni day Thursday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars grounds. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Swimmer Shirley France Bemoans Lost Childhood

By CHARLES T. BURNS
SOMERSET, Mass. (AP) — Shirley Mae France, who made unsuccessful attempts to swim the English Channel as a teenager, said today "I wouldn't want my children to miss out on childhood fun as I did."

Now 32 and happily married to a Fall River school teacher, Miss France — know to her neighbors as Mrs. Donald Setters — recalled wistfully the high school dances she missed, the games she didn't play, and the fun other kids had while she trained arduously for her battle with the tides and winds of the channel in 1949 and 1950.

"I didn't have much fun," she said. "I was in bed every night at 8:30 and up at five to get in my practice. All the other kids in school were having lots of fun, but not me. I rather resented it but I felt the channel swim was more important then."

Mrs. Setters, with her five children playing nearby, said philosophically, "Now that I'm older, I realize it was a wonderful experience but not being successful was the best thing that happened."

Her last attempt to cross the channel was on Aug. 7, 1950 at the age of 17, and she was hauled out of the water eight miles from Dover, England, her goal. The previous attempt, Sept. 6, 1949, ended less than 10 miles from the English Coast.

No "Big Money"

"I never got any big money, because I failed," Mrs. Setters said. "I was trying to get enough to buy my parents a new house and money so my two sisters, brother and I could go to college."

Since the exhilarating days as a professional swimmer, Shirley Mae has been married twice.

Y Swingettes
Winagamie Golf Course was the setting for Y Swingettes play Aug. 2.

Mrs. Frederick Kirch was blind bogey winner. Mrs. Thomas Quirk scored low putts. Pars were scored by Mrs. Quirk, Mrs. Earl Verkins and Miss Marie Lewandowski.

The Swingettes will hold their jamboree Aug. 23 at Alex's Black Manor House. The theme for the day will be a Hawaiian luau.

Riverview Country Club
The ladies of Riverview Country Club played for low putts at the club Tuesday. Class winners were Mrs. Donald Mac Donald, class A; Mrs. William Daniel, class B; Mrs. Ray Wuergler, class C, and Mrs. Gerald Hoffman, class D.

The event is part of the national and international camping program carried out by the Girl Scouts.

Miss Bamberry will be a senior at Kaukauna High School this fall. She has participated in a back pack trip and several canoe trips at Chalk Hills. She was one of two girls from Region Seven, which includes Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana, chosen to attend the Encampment.

Service Stations Live Up to Name Promises Exchanged Saturday

The next time your husband takes the family car into the garage to be serviced you may well have reason to be suspicious if he's gone a few hours. Your local garage may have adopted an idea which originated in Brussels. At one garage in Brussels, 2025 N. Summit St., Appleton, repeated marriage vows at 2 p.m. Saturday at Holy Cross Catholic Church. The nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. Andrew Quella.

Miss Lila Mae Thurner, daughter of the bridegroom, and the Brussels garage had to admit that the bar has far more customers than the barber shop. And, although the garage makes a point of rapid service, it was found that the men who go into the bar often stay on considerably longer than it takes for the car to be repaired.

Festival to Play Composition by Appleton Man

Music Professor's Suite in Peninsula Concert for Children

FISH CREEK (PG)—A "Suite on Children's Tunes" by LaVahn Maesch, head of the Lawrence University music department, will be performed here Tuesday during the annual Young People's Concert of the Peninsula Music Festival. It will mark the first time that a composition by the Lawrence professor has been played at the Festival.

Maesch member of the Lawrence music faculty since his undergraduate days. He succeeded the late Dr. Carl J. Waterman as head of the conservatory when Waterman retired.

Festival harpist Taka Kling and trombonist Mitchell Ross will move into the solo spotlight for the special Tuesday concert, which begins at 3 p.m. Mr. Kling, with members of the Soni Ventorum Woodwind Quintet, will be featured in Maurice Ravel's "Introduction and Allegro for Harp, Flute, Clarinet and Strings."

Ross to solo in the "Trombone Concerto" by Henri Tomasi. He is a member of the Chicago Little Symphony and the Interlochen Arts Academy faculty.

Other numbers of the varied program will be the "Sinfonia" for Part III of George F. Handel's oratorio "Solomon," "Eight Russian Folk Songs" by Anatol Liadov and "Soirees Musicales" by Benjamin Britten.

The Liadov work is rapidly becoming a traditional piece for the yearly youth concerts. The Britten suit is new to the repertoire here. An early composition by the contemporary British composer, "Soirees Musicales" is based on a series of pieces he wrote for an English documentary film prior to World War II. It draws on short works by Rossini.

President Gives Senators Outline On Asia Situation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson gave a bipartisan group of about 40 senators today what Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., called a "person-to-person" briefing on Viet Nam and the world situation.

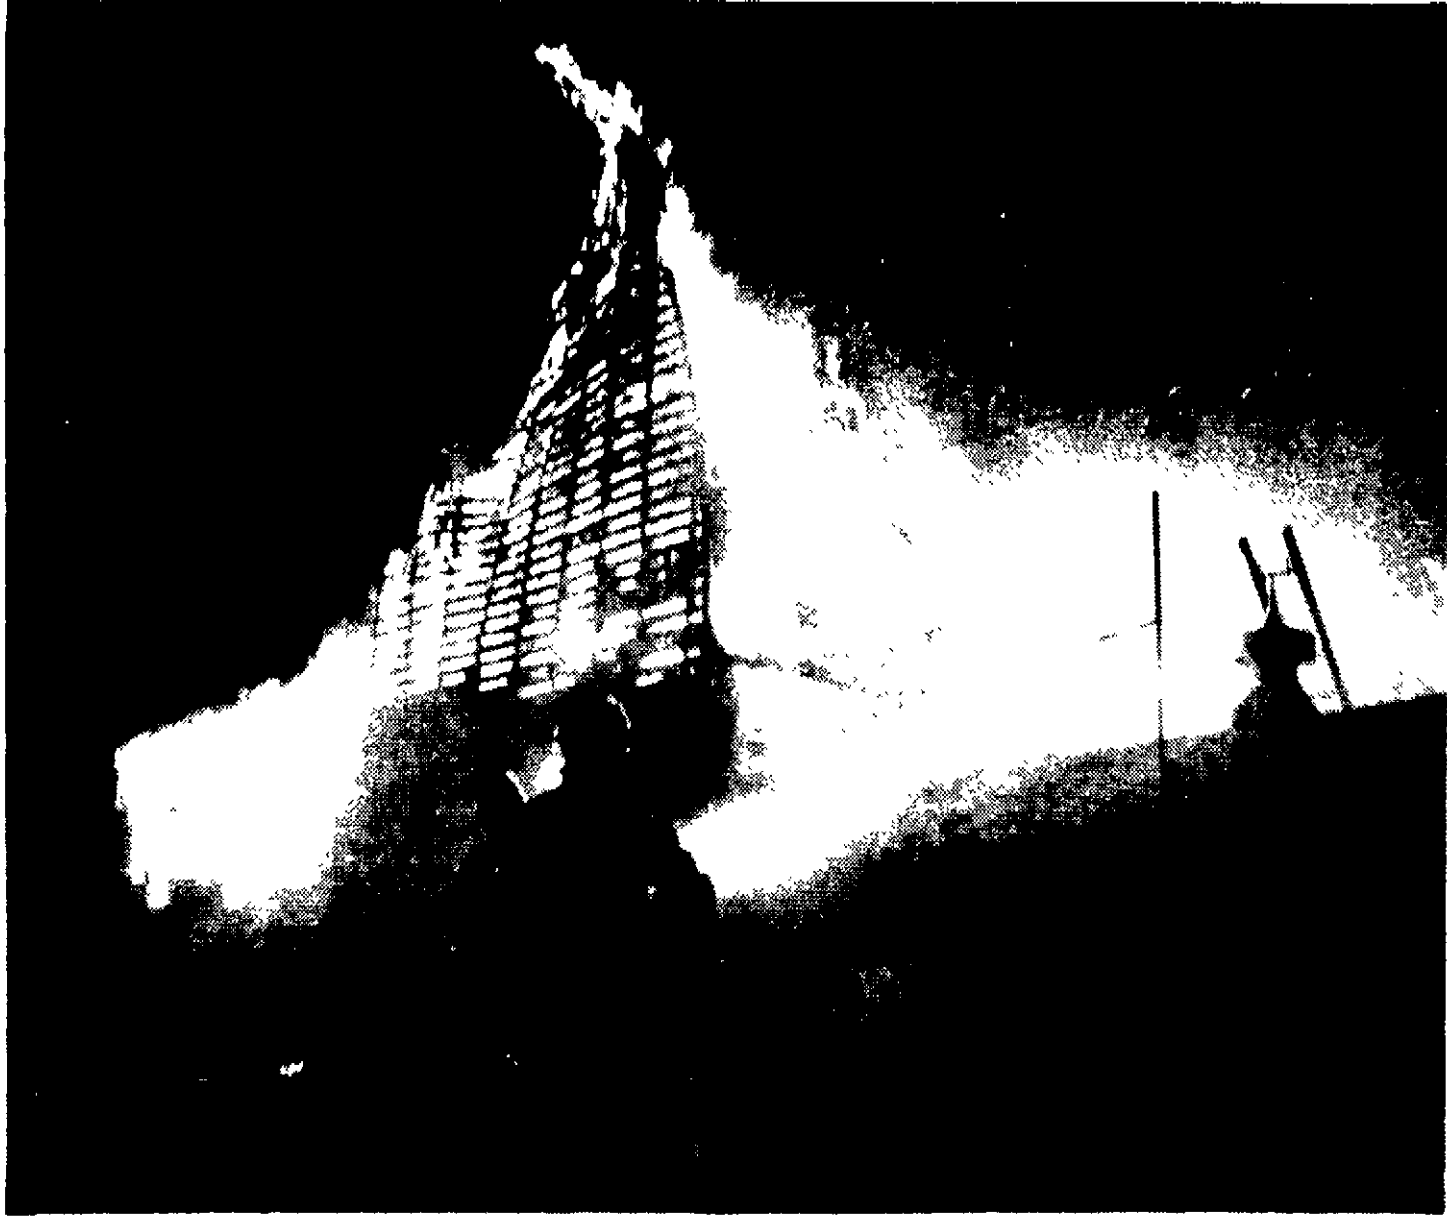

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said there was no indication of any shift in Viet Nam strategy in the 1-hour, 45-minute briefing by the President and his top advisers.

"We are going to have to wait and see what develops in Viet Nam," Mansfield told a reporter. "No man in the country is more vitally interested than the President in the question of Viet Nam. He is spending every waking moment on it and leaving no avenue untrod in seeking a solution."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois declined to discuss what went on at the meeting. But Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., said that while the briefing covered a wide front, "I hear nothing new or startling."

'The Lady's Not for Burning'

Attic Production of British Play Troupe's Finest Effort of Season

BY JAY JOSLYN Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

After feasting at the banquet of words that is Christopher Lyle's "The Lady's Not for Burning" it is an act of deep humility to make use of the English language in a manner less than that of the British show — and turning in their best performances ever —

But what an experience is the feast as served up by the Attic and Jack Swanson, the death of a season! Theater in its current production — the finest effort this As polished and sensitive as their performances are, they

Fry not only gives the actors the immeasurable pleasure of ensemble work. This Attic production has the kind of overall gloss players have come to expect from the troupe, and it is a pleasure to see the obvious turn of mind.

Director Don Jones, recognizing that such a combination as Marilyn Auer, most delightful of his could be a frightful disaster as the harassed mother who is

Appleton Native

Missionary Priest Will be Commissioned at Service

An Appleton native will be years in the seminary, he commissioned as a missionary worked summers as a counselor to Nicaragua in services at St. Anthony Catholic Church at 3 Camp.

The Rev. Norbert Wolf, O.F.M. Cap., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Wolf, 335 W. Prospect Ave., will be given a order as a symbol of our mission cross during the rite, renouncing the things of the world," he explained.

The Rev. George Henseler, O.F.M. Cap., guardian of St. Joseph Friary and pastor of the parish, will officiate and present the cross.

The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Father Andre Weller, O.F.M. Cap., a native of Chilton and currently chaplain of St. Anthony Hospital, Milwaukee.

After the ceremonies in the church there will be a reception in parish hall.

Father Wolf attended St. Theresa and St. Joseph Catholic Rainfall exceeds 200 inches a year in many places. Roads are almost unheard of.

if it didn't come off, has filled his cast with veteran actors and promising newcomers and "The Lady's Not for Burning" being a solid vehicle burnished to the brightness of a flame. Carrying the brunt of the show — and turning in their best performances ever — are the shining veterans include. The most delightful of his could be a frightful disaster as the harassed mother who is

Three newcomers to Attic turn in jobs that complement the production. Judy Hicks, a transfer from Neenah's Riverside Players, is a lovely but uncertain bride to be, and Michael Sherman is a mercurial younger son. Tom Utschig makes a humorous appearance as a befuddled old man.

Sensitive Acting

However, it is one of the joys of watching community theater, to see the wonderful flash of the new performers and "The Lady's Not for Burning," along with its other plus factors, affords this pleasure as well in the persons of Arthur Peckel and James C. Mills. Peckel, a seasoned actor, turns in a most sensitive performance as a love-smitten youth, and Mills, making his stage debut, proves to be a fine comedian in the role of the village's most unworshipful cleric. It is earnestly hoped that they — along with the other newcomers in the cast — will become regular members of the Attic.

In addition to a top-flight performance, "The Lady's Not for Burning" introduces a new stage arrangement — a thrust platform that combines elements of the arena and the proscenium — and a new seating arrangement.

Upon the new stage is a fine set designed by Mrs. Glasner. The show is brightly clothed from the imagination of Mrs. Auer and well lit by young Jerry Alvin. This is the attic show that should not be missed. The theater will be dark tonight, but the run continues Tuesday through Sunday.

He expects to be stationed in a number of different places in the beginning to gain "valuable experience from the veteran missionary fathers."

The missions cover the entire eastern half of Nicaragua. Much of the territory is jungle. Many of the Capuchins in Nicaragua are natives of Wisconsin. During his high school consin.

Traffic Tie-Ups in Appleton Can't be Helped, Officials Say

Rains Factor In 11 Crashes

Outagamie Police Investigate Accidents On County Trunks

Heavy rains on county trunk roads over the weekend were factors in 11 accidents investigated by county police since Saturday. Police said most of the accidents were of a minor nature, involved single cars and no injuries.

A crash on State 55 in the Town of Freedom early Sunday injured the driver, Thomas C. Stallmacher, 19, route 1, Seymour, police said. Stallmacher's car slid off the road, struck a mailbox and rolled over. A small fire in the car was extinguished by Freedom firemen.

State police said two persons were injured in a crash on County Trunk OO at U. S. 41 overpass.

Driver of the car, Donald Schultze, 1205 E. Pacific St., and his passenger, Susan Brandt, 221 E. Winnebago St., were treated for injuries at Appleton Memorial Hospital.

The driver said he lost control of his car and hit a bridge abutment about 11 p.m. Sunday.

Appleton Girl, 19, Treated for Injuries From Fall at Quarry

A 19-year-old Appleton girl who fell from a 40-foot ledge at a quarry off Outagamie County Trunk OO in the Town of Center early Sunday morning is being treated for injuries in St. Elizabeth Hospital today.

County police said Miss Sharon Randerson, 2301 N. Rankin St., apparently stepped off the ledge about 2 a.m. Sunday.

Patrolman Thomas Hammen said he was at the quarry questioning several persons when the accident occurred. Miss Randerson was taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service.

Foresee Expansion Of Curwood, Inc.

New London Firm May be Eying A Larger Research Department

NEW LONDON — If plans now being considered for Curwood, Inc., are implemented, the firm's rapid growth will be extended.

Howard Curler, Curwood president, said two projects are definite. More equipment will be added and the bulk storage area will be expanded. Because of the highly competitive nature of the packaging business, the type of machines to be added has not been disclosed.

The firm, founded in 1929 by Curler and Robert Woods, just moved into a new 32,000 square foot plant addition which brought the firm's total production and storage area to 82,000 square feet. Now a subsidiary of Bemis Brothers Bag Co., Boston, can be built to the plant.

Projects on Downtown Streets Shift Before Motorists Adjust

Public works projects in the downtown Appleton area are causing traffic tie-ups, but the city isn't doing much to eliminate the jams, officials said today.

Walter Rasmussen, city planner-traffic engineer, said the city wasn't doing much "because there isn't much that can be done."

He said the downtown projects are scheduled in such a way that under a normal construction situation an intersection isn't tied up for more than three days.

"By the time we would get a detour plan or a rerouting completed and posted, the need for the detour would be gone," Rasmussen said.

Shifts in Work

"Anytime you stop the use of one-way streets, you're going to have problems with traffic." Work was being done today on the intersection of Morrison and Washington streets, and Franklin Street was being used as an east-west alternate for both Washington and College Avenue, which is closed to through traffic, also because of construction work.

Appleton police were sent to various intersections in an attempt to keep traffic flowing smoothly.

Franklin Street traffic is stopped by stop signs at almost every intersection between downtown area and Lawrence Street.

Resigned to Complaints

"You just have to make up your mind you are going to get some phone calls from people who are angry because the streets are torn up," Rasmussen said.

Virtually all of Washington Street through the downtown area will be torn up before the project is completed.

College Avenue traffic will be disrupted for some time, and it has been predicted that it will be at least two building seasons before that project is completed.

Patrolman's Car Involved In Accident

Crash Occurs When Outagamie Police Answer Call

A Outagamie County traffic patrolman escaped injury early Sunday when his squad car was involved in a collision with a second car while the policeman was on the way to an emergency call.

Patrolman Edward Metko said he used his siren and blew on his horn in an effort to warn a motorist ahead of him that he was passing on Outagamie the intersection of Morrison and county Trunk OO. Metko said the man claimed he did not hear the siren or horn.

Metko said he had to slow down his squad car and the motorist ahead of him then heard tires squealing, Metko said, and the squad car hit the rear of the other car, causing minor damage. There were no injuries and the name of the second motorist was not obtained immediately. Metko was examined at a hospital and released.

Sheriff department authorities received a telephone call from Clarence Hartwig 1406 Rexford St., about 2 a.m., reporting he had been shot at his home and needed help immediately. Sheriff authorities sent with Metko reported that the telephone call followed a family argument and that there had been no shooting. Hartwig denied to sheriff investigators that he had mentioned any shooting.

Vandals Open School Safe

Equipment Damaged In Break-in at McKinley Building

Vandals entered the McKinley School, 1116 S. Jefferson St., sometime late Saturday night, damaging furniture and equipment in the school office and forcing open a school safe.

Police, after a preliminary investigation this morning, said no money was taken. The break-in was discovered by workers who reported to the school shortly after 7 a.m. today.

The vandals apparently entered by breaking glass in a door at the rear of the school. Transom windows in both the office and the library were smashed, but the vandals carefully swept the shattered glass out of the way corners with a mop.

Police said contents of a fire extinguisher were sprayed over furniture and equipment in the school office, desks were rifled and two telephones were pulled from the walls and taken from the building.

Outagamie Youths Are Attending Easter Seal Camp Wawbeek

Camping may sound like something only the kids do to take up summertime slack. The "kids" who are spending the current two weeks at Camp Wawbeek, the Land of the Easter Seal, near Wisconsin Dells are between 21 and 45 years of age.

Many have come to spend two weeks for many years because it is the best two weeks of any year to them. They find new friends and renew old friendships while they enjoy the many facilities Wawbeek offers. Easter Seals finance Wawbeek, and it continues to grow with the idea that recreation is a very important part of developing the abilities of the handicapped.

Campers from Outagamie County attending the present session at Camp Wawbeek are Neal Chudacoff, 230 East Glendale, Appleton; Jimmy French, 411 West Winnebago, Appleton; Lucille Meulemans, route 2, Kaukauna; Sandra Osenroth, 500 West Seymour, Appleton.

Board to Discuss Annexation Action

Board to Try to Nullify Menasha Addition Proposal

MENASHA — The Town of Menasha Board will meet at Sabre Lanes at 7:30 p.m. today with town officials and residents expected to discuss a plan of action to counteract the City of Menasha's attempt to annex 350 acres of the town.

The meeting was moved from the town office building to the larger Sabre Lanes meeting room to accommodate the expected large crowd.

While tonight's meeting is a regularly scheduled board session, the city's annexation attempt is expected to dominate the agenda.

The News-Record discovered late Thursday the city's intention to circulate an annexation petition in a 350-acre area which would include the Sabre Lanes site, the University of Wisconsin, Fox Valley Center and the Valley Fair Shopping Center.

Town Chairman Roland Kamp said he has talked to the property owners involved and they have not indicated any desire to be annexed to Menasha. He said the Town Board would explain the "unfair tactics" used by the city in attempting the mass annexation.

Both Kamp and Town Clerk Robert Jacobs were out Saturday informing town residents of the change in location of tonight's meeting.

Includes City Plan

The notice to circulate annexation petitions came on the heels of the city's purchase of 81 acres in the town for an industrial park. The area being petitioned for includes the 81 acres now owned by the city and contiguous land to the north.

If the annexation goes through, the Maplewood district of the town would be almost cut in half. Last Thursday the town also opened bids for its proposed water system with which they planned to serve the Maplewood district, including the area being sought by the city.

Civilian Death Toll Utilized By Viet Cong

Astute Operations By Agents Result in Telling Propaganda

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong agents have moved rapidly and astutely to take advantage of the burned homes and civilian casualties caused by U.S. Marine and Air Force operations south of Da Nang, well informed military sources said today.

They said some military circles believe the Communist drive to undermine politically the American position around this strategic airbase is gaining momentum.

Senior Viet Cong leaders have moved into villages in the densely populated area south of the base. They tell the peasants they are from the Viet Minh. Ho Chi Minh's army which destroyed French power in Indochina and won the peninsula its independence. The Viet Minh is still respected by many older Vietnamese who are not Communists.

The Communists propaganda line now is that the Americans have replaced the French and are trying to take over the country in a new war against the Vietnamese people. It claims this is proven by recent operations south of the base.

During the past week Marines killed at least five civilians in one operation. About 100 homes were destroyed in another by Marines. The Marines had received sniper fire from both villages.

Marine artillery and U.S. Air Force and Marine planes also have blasted villages the Viet Cong were using as bases from which to harass Marine patrols and outposts. A number of buildings were destroyed and some civilian casualties were reported.

Senior Marine commanders have re-emphasized Maj. Gen. Lewis W. Wall's orders that the minimum amount of force necessary will be used whenever Viet Cong are found in areas that also contain civilians, which is nearly always the case.

Wall, the Marine commander in Viet Nam, expressed regret over the death of the five civilians at Chan Son, 10 miles south of the air base.

Tighter Discipline

The Viet Cong reportedly have tightened their discipline to prevent friction with villagers. They are said to be paying for all food and going out of their way to aid villagers caught in recent Marine operations. In some areas the guerrillas reportedly have put down their rifles long enough to help rebuild destroyed bamboo and thatch huts.

The Viet Cong are able to carry out an intensive propaganda campaign virtually undisturbed because no American or Vietnamese troops stayed behind once the villages had been overrun and a search carried out for guerrillas.

Car Demolished When Driver Breaks Off Tree

NEENAH — Tina Reinhardt, 19, 1373 S. Commercial St., Neenah was treated at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital for facial cuts and shock after his car crashed into a tree on S. Commercial Street at Alcott Drive at 2 a.m. today.

Neenah police reported Reinhardt was driving south when his car skidded, hit a driveway curb, flew through the air, hitting and breaking off the tree. He was alone in the car. His auto was totally wrecked.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Before being sunk by Red Chinese ships Friday, two Nationalist Chinese subchasers launched secret agents to the Communist mainland in small boats, a Taipei paper said today.

Navy headquarters stuck to an earlier statement that the ships were on a routine patrol mission. It claimed that the ships sank five Communist vessels and badly damaged four in the battle off the coast south of Quemoy.

Louis Hanson, Bride Greet 600 Democrats

MELLEN (AP) — State Democratic Chairman Louis Hanson and his bride threw their first party Sunday — a reception for nearly 600 Democrats.

And Hanson booted what he called "the greatest introduction of my life."

The state chairman introduced the new Mrs. Hanson to a guest by her former name.

Hanson, 39, a bachelor until Saturday, will leave this week for Copenhagen, Denmark, for a honeymoon with his bride, the former Mrs. Camilla Sorensen.

The reception at Hanson's 1,200-acre estate featured hot dogs, ham and two donkeys which 8th District Democrats labeled "Camilla" and "Louie."

Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette's three-year-old daughter, Debby, confessed she liked elephants, too, but her mother warned, "Hush, that's a dirty word here."

The Hansons were married Saturday in a quiet ceremony at Madison. Mrs. Hanson was divorced in 1963 from Theodore Sorensen, a top White House aide of the late President John F. Kennedy.

West Berlin Like City of World Pulling Against Tide of Reds' Sea

By HUBERT J. ERB

BERLIN (AP) — White vapor trails moved unwaveringly across the clear blue West Berlin sky. Their heads pointed east, their tails puffing and disintegrating behind them in the west.

The trails were the kind U.S.-B52 bombers etch into the azure sky high above San Francisco, the kind bathers along 100 miles of New Jersey shore watch on soft summer afternoons.

But this was Berlin, and the jets overhead were Russian. Earlier in the day two other Russian jets had joined the city awake with sonic booms.

To a newcomer here, the overflights were reminders of the precarious nature of the freedom that West Berlin so obviously relishes.

It was the first clear day in Berlin in over a week and the passersby at the corner of the Kurfuerstendamm and Fasanen Street were out in force in the warm evening air.

Noticed Beatniks

Most of them didn't notice the passing Soviet jets. What stopped them in their tracks were two barefoot beatniks, a boy and a girl.

The girl squatted on the sidewalk — you had to look twice to make sure she was a girl, her hair was that short. The boy had his hair long. Both wore shirts and jeans. Both were dirty.

He stood with a guitar, playing and singing about a cannon and a soldier who "takes drink of whiskey."

"... A drink of whiskey," the girl joined in, all the while busily sketching the people who had stopped to gaze at her and her friend.

The scene typified much of what is a visitor's first impression of Berlin: The hard pace of living despite or because of danger; the apparent to-Hell-with-it attitude of much of the city's youth; and the preoccupation with "das unwichtige," the unimportant.

Life Pushes In

One thing is certain, however. Life here rushes at you in a rain or shine intensity that can be felt as well as seen? Its parade ground is the Kurfuerstendamm, the "Kudamm," which, said one Berliner wryly, should be spelled with an H, "Kuhdamm," or cow path.

"All they do," he said, nodding to the passing stream of rich and poor, well-dressed and ragged, sound of limb and limping, "is walk up and down like cows grazing."

"But what else is there to do?"

He is right. What else is there to do?

There is nowhere to go unless you have money and get an east German Communist visa to go to West Germany 110 autobahn miles away. The West Berliner cannot visit East Berlin without special passes the Reds sometimes issue.

This in itself is a tragedy in many ways. East Berlin was the best part of Berlin historically — the Brandenburg Tor — culturally — the opera — and educationally — Humboldt University.

East Best Part

"And," said a native Berliner old enough to have savored his city before World War II, "East Berlin was the most attractive part. At that time, West Berlin was known as der Neue Westen (the New West)."

So, today, the citizens of the New West move up and down the Kudamm, once the private riding path of the Prince Elector of Prussia.

The Berliner takes visitors there to show off its wonders. He also takes them to the Communist-built wall dividing the city, but otherwise stays as far away from it as possible. Out of sight, out of mind.

The Kudamm, however, is the heart of its style of living. He according to a University of California meteorologist, Morris Neuburger said it was fumes from automobile exhaust systems continue flooding the city at present rates the planet will be smothered in smog within 100 years.

Stock Trading Is Moderate

Aircraft Issues Gain, Viet Nam Situation Cited

NEW YORK (AP) — Aircraft issues were standouts in an irregularly higher stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Interest in the aircraft apparently stemmed from the United States' expanding role in the Viet Nam war.

There were no other news developments to stimulate the market.

Boeing and Douglas advanced about 1 1/2 points. United Aircraft gained about half a point and General Dynamics was ahead by a lesser fraction.

Steels and motors were mixed. U.S. Steel was off a minor fraction and Republic was ahead about half a point. General Motors eased and Chrysler gained slightly.

AP Unchanged

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was unchanged with industrials up .5, rails off .3 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 0.83 to 883.34.

Rubbers, mail order-retails, farm implements, electronics and building materials advanced.

American Telephone was up fractionally and Du Pont was down slightly. International Business Machines, Polaroid and Xerox tacked on a point or so.

Prices advanced in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Young Troops to Leave Viet Nam

SAIGON (AP) — Younger members of the 173rd Airborne Brigade are being screened and those under 18 years of age will be transferred out of Viet Nam, a U.S. military spokesman said today.

Another source said about 100 youths would be sent out of Viet Nam because of their age.

The brigade began landing in Viet Nam on May 5 and is stationed around Bien Hoa air base, north of Saigon, where it has been taking part in operations against the Viet Cong.

The spokesman said soldiers under 18 will be sent back to Okinawa or perhaps to the United States. He said there are certain provisions in enlistment and draft regulations under which soldiers under 18 can be sent overseas but not to combat zones.

Man Jumps Out of Window in Attempt To Escape Embassy

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — An unidentified man tried to escape Sunday from the Moroccan Embassy but was forced back into the building by three men, police reported today.

The man jumped to the street from the embassy, on the second floor of the building in downtown Beirut, and called to passers-by for help.

The man had broken a leg in the jump, the police reports said. As bystanders attempted to help him, three men emerged from the building and began dragging the man inside.

Hail, Funnels Whipped Up by Midland Storms

Atlantic States Get Showers; Tornadoes Touch Down in Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Scattered thundershowers rolled over the South and Midwest today in the wake of storms that spawned funnel clouds and hail Sunday.

Some of the Atlantic states also had storms. Tampa, Fla., reported this morning receiving more than 1½ inches of rain in a six-hour period.

Storms Sunday were particularly severe in Texas. Two tornadoes were reported to have touched down during the night in open country near Lubbock. Near Abilene, high winds overturned a house trailer. There were no injuries reported.

Hail in Texas
The extreme eastern portion of the state was lashed by hail and heavy rain.

Thundershowers spewing hail and funnel clouds passed through northern Illinois during the day. Damage, however, was negligible.

Eastern and central Indiana also were targets for heavy rain and tornadoes. Three homes at Alexandria were reported to have been heavily damaged by what was believed to be a small tornado. North of Anderson, several autos were overturned and some small buildings damaged. No injuries were reported.

Fisherman Electrocuted
John S. Childs, 35, Richmond, Ind., was electrocuted at Jimmerson Lake. The county coroner said Childs died of electrical shock while fishing. The coroner theorized lightning bounced off the water onto Childs' home-made raft.

Temperatures this morning were above normal through the West and below normal from the Ohio Valley to the Great Lakes. Readings elsewhere were normal.

Clear to partly cloudy skies were reported over most of the Western states this morning.

Rain Renews Fox City Lawns

Weekend Showers Leave .68 Inch In Last 24 Hours

Fox City lawns received their share of heavy weekend rains that pelted the state. Downpours Sunday and early this morning brought a total of .68 inch rain, according to the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company station in Appleton.

Hail and winds up to 53 miles an hour dumped .48 inch precipitation on the valley in a one-and-a-half hour period Friday afternoon.

Burlington received a whopping 3.10 inches of rain in the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today and Madison soaked up 2.85 inches. Beloit had 1.58, Racine 1.52, La Crosse 1.01, Milwaukee .96, Lone Rock .62, Green Bay .46, Wausau .20 and Eau Claire .05.

During the night minimums ranged from 48 at Park Falls to 64 at Beloit. Eau Claire had a low of 52. Wausau 53, Madison 58, La Crosse and Green Bay 59, Racine 61 and Milwaukee 62.

Growers were hailing the rain after two dryer-than-normal months. Stanley Rynearson, Milwaukee County agricultural agent, said the rain would bring lawns and truck gardens into good shape.

Hottest place in the country Sunday was Needles, Calif., with 110 degrees. Coldest early today was Reno, Nev., with 42.

Student Accused of Murdering Coeds Has Psychiatric Tests

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — James C. Cross Jr., 22, University of Texas student charged in the slaying of two coeds, has been examined by a psychiatrist. Sheriff T. O. Lang disclosed.

Lang said that Cross was examined at the request of his defense attorneys. Cross is charged in the slaying of Shirley Ann Stark and Susan Rigby, 21-year-old Chi Omega sorority sisters from Dallas, Tex., whose partly nude bodies were found July 30 in a vacant lot in North Austin.

The Daily Texan, the school's student paper, said most coeds attending summer sessions "were in a state of near-panic" after the bodies were found.

Gun dealers reported coeds were buying sidearms so fast they couldn't keep them in stock. Few coeds ventured out alone on the campus at night.

A caravan of local representatives will form at the Bauer Store in the village at 6:30 p.m. Thursday evening to attend the hearing at Oshkosh. Petitions will be presented to Wisconsin Conservation Department authorities at the hearing.

Thursday's hearing supplants the regular C of C meeting. The August meeting will be rescheduled to complete plans for the Farm Day Festival to be held here this month.

Opposition Slows Secrecy Bill Action

Sources Claim Johnson Ordered Congress to Kill Measure Calling For Opening of More Top Records

By HARRY KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate-House drive to pierce government secrecy by making more records available to the public has stalled in the face of White House opposition, congressional informants said today.

One source said word had been passed from President Johnson to House leaders to jettison the bill.

The measure would not interfere with matters dealing with national security, but the administration is said to be concerned with protecting the doctrine of executive privilege and with guarding secret files such as the FBI's.

The freedom of information bill has been urged by news media representatives as a guarantee of the citizens' right to know about their government, but opposed by the Justice Department as an attempt to oversimplify a complex problem.

Congressional Supporters
Despite the opposition, two of the measure's leading congressional supporters, Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., and Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., are portrayed as being optimistic the legislation will be approved.

Moss heads the House government information subcommittee; Long heads the Senate judiciary subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure.

But the bill's chances appear dim for this year with Congress shooting for adjournment by late next month.

Aides of Long said the senator hoped to push the measure along by winning his subcommittee's approval this week. Moss is not that hopeful.

Both subcommittees have held hearings on the measure. In general it would require federal agencies to make their records open to public inspection except for matters pertaining to security, personnel records and information private concerns must submit to the government.

Suitable Bill
Since Moss' hearings ended in April, discussions have been under way in an effort to draw up a suitable bill that will satisfy every one including the President.

A source said the measure has undergone eight revisions. The major difficulty, Moss said, is the insistence by "people at the Justice Department" that provisions be made in the bill for protection of executive privilege.

"I will not agree to any language that grants statutory recognition to executive privilege," Moss said.

The doctrine of executive privilege is used by Presidents to prohibit certain records or correspondence from being made available not only to the public but also to Congress.

A freedom of information law was passed in the Senate last year but wasn't considered in the House.

Fish Tells Party To Concentrate On Gains in 1966
RIPON (AP)—State Republican Chairman Odys J. Fish said Sunday his party must concentrate on gains in 1966 before it can hope for a comeback in 1968.

"We must put thinking of 1968 out of our minds," Fish told a college workshop of the Wisconsin Young Republicans.

"If we don't make congressional gains in 1966, there will be no candidate who will want the nomination in 1968."

On the state level, Fish said polls showed GOP Gov. Warren E. Knowles is "more popular now than at any time since his election."

The Young Republicans' executive committee praised Knowles in a resolution of what it described as his leadership in obtaining legislative advances in higher education, highway safety, governmental reorganization and conservation.

Pugnacious Porpoise Only One Animal World Aflutter Over Monkeyshines
By RAY KOHN
NEW YORK (AP) — Monkeyshines at the Memphis zoo: Tuffy the pugnacious but helpful porpoise; Ludwig Von Schwarzenberg, a dog who'll get his day, and a Himalayan bear who tried breaking and entering—all these are causing a stir in the animal world.

At the Memphis zoo monkey island, a female Rhesus monkey plunges into the moat surrounding her island, swims to the other side, clambers up a six-foot retaining wall, and has a date with a big Barbary ape.

Stout wire separates the two, but it doesn't seem to chill the romance. At dawn, the female returns to her abode.

Zoo director Robert Mattlin says he won't interfere because the lonely ape has no mate. But he said:

Craziest Thing
"It's the craziest thing I ever heard of."

At Point Mugu, Calif., Tuffy the porpoise is training to play bodyguard and shark-fighter for divers in the Navy's underwater hut, Sealab I.

The 7-foot, 270-pound sea mammal has been at the Navy missile center for more than a year learning to take guide lines to lost divers and carry packages between divers.

Later this month, officials say, after Sealab II is lowered to the ocean floor off La Jolla, Calif., Tuffy will be released to see if he can protect the divers from attack.

Porpoises have been known to beat off and even kill sharks by ramming them with their noses.

Ludwig Von Schwarzenberg is one dog who'll get his day—at the University of

SCLC Starts Convention In Birmingham

King Returns Civil Rights Conference To Site of Birth

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, born and matured in civil rights protests in Alabama, begins its annual convention here today after a three-year absence.

Many of the estimated 1,000 delegates are expected to lodge and eat at public facilities that were once barred to them.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., SCLC president who once called Birmingham the nation's most rigidly segregated city, will head the five-day convention.

"We felt it altogether fitting that the convention this year should be held in Birmingham," the Rev. Joseph E. Lowery, a local Negro minister, said.

Focus on Selma
Rev. Mr. Lowery said the Civil Rights Act of 1964 stemmed from a college workshop of the SCLC-led demonstrations in Birmingham in 1953, and the newly signed voting rights bill resulted from the voter registration drive focused at Selma.

"The SCLC was born out of the Montgomery movement," Rev. Mr. Lowery said, referring to the bus boycott led by Dr. King in 1955-56 in the Alabama capital 91 miles south.

Besides finding public facilities now open to them, SCLC members will hold one public session at a previously white hotel and meet another night at the city's municipal auditorium—also denied for interracial activities three years ago.

Urban Affairs, Public Works Plans
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress faces another heavy workload this week in its drive for adjournment by mid-September.

Two major administration measures top the legislative docket, one in each chamber.

The Senate takes up Tuesday a House-passed bill to create a Department of Urban Affairs to cope with the mounting problems of cities. The department would be headed by a Cabinet officer.

The following day the House will start debate on President Johnson's new public works and economic development plan, a $665-million-a-year measure to help areas of chronic unemployment.

Antipoverty Vote
Headed for the Senate floor later in the week, but not for a decisive vote, is another administration bill, a $1.65-billion measure continuing the antipoverty program for another year. It already has passed the House.

Also in line for Senate consideration is a House-passed measure to give members of the armed forces pay raises aggregating about $1 billion a year.

And before the week is out, the Senate may approve the nomination of Abe Fortas to be an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

Its Appropriations Committee is expected to grant, perhaps with increases, the President's request for $1.7 billion extra to help pay the cost of the fighting in Viet Nam. Another military money bill, providing $1.7 billion to finance construction of bases and housing, may be passed by the House Tuesday.

He said the lightning apparently jumped from a nearby tree to the shed and then to an umbrella the men were holding. The doctor asked anonymously.

Registrars for Voting to be Named Today
Justice Department Also Plans Court Action on Poll Tax
By DON CARSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the third phase of putting the new voting rights bill into action, the Justice Department designates today those counties where federal registrars will be used.

And Tuesday, in keeping with a presidential timetable, about 45 of the 75 federal voting examiners—all employees of the Civil Service Commission—will start signing up voters in 10 to 15 counties.

The Justice Department also is to go to court Tuesday in an effort to upset the poll tax requirement for voting in state and local elections in Texas, Alabama and Virginia.

President Johnson established the schedule Friday when he signed the voting rights bill into law.

Started Saturday
The first two phases of enforcement went into effect Saturday.

Literacy tests as a prerequisite to voting were suspended in Alabama, Alaska, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and in 26 counties in North Carolina and one each in Arizona, Idaho and Maine.

The first of the poll tax suits was filed against Mississippi. The state plans to defend the constitutionality of the $2 fee required of its voters in state and local elections. # Stephanopoulos Bid to Form New Government Fails

Center Union Action Puts Greece Into Deeper State of Crisis

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — to support George Athanasiadis Center Union party deputies today voted against allowing Stephanopoulos to form a new government. The action plunged Greece even deeper into crisis and confronted King Constantine with a new challenge.

The deputies of the nation's biggest party, led by ousted Premier George Papandreou, voted 120-18 against Stephanopoulos' accepting a mandate from the king, a party official said.

A veteran politician and former deputy premier under ousted Premier George Papandreou, Stephanopoulos told the caucus, "I will abide by the party's decision."

Papandreou Advice
The party spokesman said Papandreou advised the Center Union members of parliament that leaders are chosen by the people.

"The king can appoint anyone premier, but he abuses his rights if he does so," Papandreou said.

In asking Stephanopoulos to try to form a government, King Constantine rejected Papandreou's demand that he be returned to power.

Stephanopoulos, a 66-year-old bachelor, agreed to try. There were indications Papandreou might relent in his own determination to regain the premier-ship.

Reuss
year-old Reuss, son of Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., remained in Clay County but "I can't say where."

Early Sunday shotgun pellets at nearby Pheba sprayed a Freedom Party house where James Shellow, a Milwaukee attorney who flew to Mississippi to defend Reuss, was visiting. No one was hit.

Manslaughter charges were dismissed Saturday after Shellow conferred with Dist. Atty. Harvey Buck. Buck said it appeared Reuss resisted search and apparently pushed the officer, but that death was not a result of Reuss' actions.

Shellow said he drove early Sunday to the house near Pheba with another attorney, William Kopit of the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee at Jackson, who had returned to the car when the blasts slammed into the building.

It was Reuss' second civil rights arrest since coming into Mississippi in June. He was jailed for 10 days in Jackson in a Freedom Democratic demonstration against a special session of the state Legislature which was passing laws to relax voting requirements.

City Judge L. F. Sams Saturday fined Reuss and 11 other men $20 apiece on charges of blocking sidewalks in the demonstration and Reuss another $25 for interfering with an arrest.

Marinette's Bill Bomber slides safely into home in the first inning of the game with Stevens Point at Goodland Field Sunday. Bomber, who opened the game with a walk, scored as Stevens Point hurler Don Kulick (25) threw a wild pitch and dropped the peg to home from the catcher, who retrieved the ball in front of the grandstand. # Oshkosh Duels Superior Today In Rain-Delayed Tournament

BY MIKE WALTER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Marinette stayed alive in the state American Legion baseball tournament at Goodland Field Sunday afternoon by beating the rain long enough to defeat Stevens Point, 5-2, in a 5-inning contest.

The loss was the second straight for the Pointers and ousted them from the double-elimination tourney. Marinette advanced to today's 8 p.m. game, when it will face the loser of this afternoon's Beloit-West Allis contest.

The contest, first on the Sunday schedule, was the only one played, as rain blanked the Superior-Oshkosh and Beloit-West Allis tilts. Superior and Oshkosh were scheduled to play at 1:30 p.m. today, with the victory meeting the winner of today's 4:30 p.m. Beloit-West Allis game Tuesday.

Warfield to Have Surgery

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Paul Warfield, the leaping receiver who helped to carry the Cleveland Browns to the National Football League championship last season, undergoes surgery today for a broken collar bone. He may be out of action eight to 10 weeks.

Dr. Malcolm Brahm, an orthopedic surgeon, will insert a pin in Warfield's left shoulder blade at the Shaker Medical Center.

"This is the first serious injury of any kind I've ever had," the former Ohio State star half-back said. "I think the weight of the defensive back falling on me just as I hit the ground did it."

Racing for Pass

Warfield, a split end, and Al Nelson, defensive back for the College All-Stars, were racing for a pass in the first quarter of last Friday night's game in Chicago when they landed in a tangle as Warfield reached for the ball.

"The lighting isn't very good at Soldier Field and I had a little trouble locating the football," Warfield said.

The Browns won 24-16 but the injury to their No. 1 draft choice for last season may prove to be a costly one. Coach Blanton Collier has often said Warfield's speed and leaping catches helped to take the pressure off flanker Gary Collins and was one of the big factors in the Browns' NFL title drive.

Warfield's replacement for next Sunday's exhibition game in San Francisco will be Cliff McNeil of Grinnell College in his second year with the Browns.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — has been voted Associated Press Woman Athlete of the Year for the 25th anniversary of her professional golf career.

Lombardi Says He Doesn't Mind if Bays Are Favorites

Half of 40-Man Team May be In First, Second or Third Year

By JACK HAND
WEST DE PERE, Wis. (AP) — A bound dog ran out on the practice field in the middle of a Green Bay football workout. Players and assistant coaches tried to yell him off.

"Gadoutahere," growled a rasping voice that could belong only to Vince Lombardi. The bound dog ran for his life.

Lombardi puts up with no nonsense, even from dogs. He runs a tight ship. Let a back miss a hole, a blocker miss a block or a receiver drop a pass, he hears about it right now.

"Keep your feet. What are you doing down there?" the coach — general manager belittled when a blocker in a one-on-one drill let a defensive line man knock him off balance.

Driving Club

Make no mistake about it. Lombardi is driving his Packers club to make up for lost time — two years of second place.

"We think we can win it," said Lombardi. "You say we're liable to be the favorite? That's all right. I don't mind being the favorite. We have the best talent we've ever had in camp. Everybody said we had a poor draft but these are the best young football players we've ever had."

Because experienced men like Jim Taylor, Bart Starr, Paul Hornung, Henry Jordan and Forrest Gregg still are key operators, many do not realize that Lombardi quietly has been rebuilding the Packers.

There are 10 second-year men on the club, six third-year players. Probably four or five rookies will make it. That adds up to 20 of the 40-man regular season roster.

The offense again will be built around the running of Horning, Taylor, Tom Moore and Elijah Pitts. Lombardi plans to keep all three quarterbacks — Starr, Zeke Bratkowski and Dennis Clardige but will give Clardige a good shot in the pre-season games. The prize 1964 rookie from Nebraska never did play last year due to injuries.

Dale at Flanker

Boyd Dowler, a flanker, will move to split end to give Max McGee a hand and Carroll Dale, acquired from the Rams, will take over at flanker, backed up by Bob Long, a promising second-year man from Wichita.

Lombardi insists he is not concerned about the loss of Ron Kramer, veteran tight end who played out his option and became a free agent. Al Fleming, 6-foot-4, 235-pound fierce blocker from Utah will take over.

The offensive line, rebuilt last year, probably will have Bob Skoronski at one tackle and Steve Wright, a second-year man from Alabama at the other. Dan Grimm and Gregg will be the guards plus Jerry Thurston and possibly Juzzy Kramer later on.

Kramer is working himself into shape after a series of operations. Center Ken Bowman figures to get stiff competition from rookie Bill Curry of Georgia Tech who has been with the College All-Stars.

Norm Masters, a regular tackle for years, has retired along with punter Jerry Norton, who has been replaced by ex-Giant Don Chandler.

The strong defensive unit is intact, except for left linebacker Dan Currie, traded to Los Angeles, and Jesse Whitten, who retired. Once again it will be Willie Davis and Lionel Al-bridge at the ends and Ron Kostelnik and Jordan at the tackles. Dave Robinson moves into the regular line-up at left linebacker with Lee Roy Caffey sliding over to the right side. Dependable Ray Nitschke will be in the middle.

Herb Adderley, an all-league back, has the left corner job nailed down but Lombardi is running a competition between Bob Jeter, former offensive end, and Doug Hart for the right corner post. Willie Wood, another all-pro, is the free safety, as usual.

However, Hank Gremminger at strong side safety has a fight on his hands from Tom Brown, the former Washington Senator baseball player who may turn out to be an outstanding defensive player.

Asked if he would like to break Palmer's money winning record on Palmer's home course at Laurel Valley, Nicklaus said:

"You bet I would. That would be a good place to get it. But I might not get out alive, he joked."

Nicklaus, who now has won four tournaments this year — 16 in his 3 1/2 years on the pro tour — said he would go to Laurel Valley Country Club at Lagom, Pa., Tuesday to practice for the PGA.

Mathews Powers Braves to Sweep

Gets 2 Homers, 7 RBIs in 8-5, 8-3 Wins Over Houston Astros

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Eddie Mathews says he's feeling "real good" and his bat is making the Milwaukee Braves feel better about the National League pennant fight.

The slugging third baseman, in a long slump that dropped his batting average down to an anemic .234, drove in seven runs Sunday as the Braves battered Houston 8-5 and 8-3 to move back into third place only two games behind the pace-setting Los Angeles Dodgers.

Mathews, a streak hitter, said he hopes his five-hit two-homer performance, the start of a batting tear "This must have gotten me up to 240, for Pete's sake," Mathews said.

20,882 Attendance

Feipe Alou and Frank Bolling also provided some firepower in the twin-bill, which drew a healthy crowd of 20,882 paid. Free Little League bats served as the attendance spur on the wet, overcast day.

The Braves needed all the hitting they could muster as the pitching staff, with the exception of relief ace Billy O'Dell, had another lackluster afternoon.

Wade Blasingame, who picked up his 14th win of the season and his fifth over the Astros.

Joe Torre walked and Gene Oliver singled to score Mathews Bolling, given a life when Gus Triandos dropped his foul pop, lined a double past third, scoring Torre and Oliver.

But Braves' starter Denny Lemaster ran into control problems despite the 4-0 lead and when he walked the bases full yanked in favor of Hank Fischer.

Packers Put Two Rookies On Waivers

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers of the National Football League reduced their 1965 rookie crop to 16 today when they put offensive guard Joe (Buddy) Eilers of Texas A & M and defensive tackle Charley Harris of Tennessee A & I on waivers.

Both of the players turned loose were signed as free agents.

The Packers now have 54 players in camp. They must cut the squad to 40 by Sept. 14.

Reds Hand Los Angeles 18-0 Lacing

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Willie Mays has ended his drought, the San Francisco Giants are threatening to turn the rest of the National League into a disaster area.

Mays increased his major league leading home run total to 30 Sunday as the second-place Giants trimmed St. Louis 6-4 for their sixth straight victory and charged to within one game of the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers.

In all, Mays lashed three hits against the Cardinals and increased his average to .338, only nine points below his pre-drought average.

Starting July 9 and lasting for three weeks, the streaky Mays hit no home runs, drove in no runs and managed only six hits in 40 at-bats for a .150 average.

Rediscovered Swing

The star center fielder finally rediscovered his home run swing July 30, and in the last 11 games has clouted seven homers, driven in 12 runs and batted .426.

His punch has been even more damming in the past four games. In that time he has recorded five homers, 10 RBI and 10 hits in 16 trips to the plate for a .625 average.

Another slugger, Ed Mathews, led the Braves to within two games of the Dodgers as he rapped five hits and drove in seven runs in Milwaukee's 8-5 and 8-3 sweep of Houston. Cincinnati also stood at two games back following its 18-0 trouncing of Los Angeles.

In other NL games, Pittsburgh whipped Philadelphia 7-1 before losing 5-2 and Chicago took New York 7-6 and 14-10.

Mays' homer and Willie McCovey's 26th roundtrip helped Warren Spahn end a nine-game losing streak. Spahn, replaced in the sixth inning, hadn't won since May 23. He's now 5-13.

Jim Maloney coasted to his 13th triumph in 18 decisions with a four-hitter as Cincinnati pounded out 20 hits. Los Angeles' Don Drysdale, now 15-10, lasted only two innings. Leo Cardenas led the attack, collecting three hits and batting in four runs.

Bob Veale set Philadelphia down on six hits in Pittsburgh's opening-game victory. Jim Pagarioni and Manny Mota homered for the Pirates.

The Phillies came back in the nightcap as Ray Herbert scattered.

American Girls Score First International Track Win Over Poland

Irena Kirszenstein Sets World Mark In 200-Meter Race

By WILL GRIMSLEY

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — An angular Polish college girl with the speed of a gazelle and a scrappy team of Americans took women's track and field out of the step-child class today.

The Polish speed flash is Irena Kirszenstein, a tall, leggy, 19-year-old daughter of a Warsaw interior decorator. She has established herself as the world's fastest woman runner and the greatest all-around female athlete since Holland's Fanny Blankers-Koen in 1948.

Already holder of the world 100 meters record of 11.1 seconds, which she shared with teammate Ewa Klobukowska and Wynonia Tyus of Griffin, Ga., Irena added the 200 meters record Sunday when she clipped two-tenths of a second off Wilma Rudolph's five-year-old mark in winning the event in 22.7 at the U.S.-Poland dual track and field meet.

Won Broad Jump

She also won the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet 8 3/4 inches and figured in four victories over two days.

Even with Miss Kirszenstein's phenomenal one-lady show, the young and enthusiastic American girls managed to move into world class by winning their first international meet, 59-57.

They now go to Munich, Germany, where they hope to score their second victory over a strong German team rated equal to the Poles.

"We have finally come of age," said Coach Jack Griffin of Frederick, Md. "We no longer have to compete in the shadow of the Russians, Poles, Germans and British."

While the women were scoring their upset victory, the American men were tallying a hard-earned 118-93 decision over an improved Polish team, which now is ready to challenge the United States' long-time superiority in the sprints.

The Poles, who won the sprint relay Saturday, added the 200-meter run when Marian Dudziak outspurred Jim Hines of Oakland, Calif., and Adolph Plummer of Los Angeles in 20.7 seconds.

2-Day Meet

The American men go to Augsburg, Germany, where they have a two-day meet against West Germany Aug. 11-12 before returning home.

The U. S. men once were so ashamed of their girl competitors that they demanded that all international scores be broken down separately into men's and women's competitions.

Now the U.S. girls are in a position to make the same demands. They have suddenly reactivated women's track interest in America — just as Irena Kirszenstein has become the idol of Poland.

Irena is a 5-foot-11 girl with a sharp face and an unusually long neck. She appears to be all arms and legs. But her legs are powerful and fast and may be good enough to dominate women's sprints and broad jumping for the next several years.

Irene's father had fled the Germans in World War II, and she was born in Leningrad, Russia.

Running Potential

She attends Warsaw University where she is majoring in economics. She is a pleasant attractive girl who has not yet begun to reach her running potential. She looms as the likely outstanding competitor in the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City.

The U.S. women will be a factor there, too. In Sunday's climax to the Polish meet, the U.S. girls scored one-two sweeps in the 800 meters, shot put and 80-meter hurdles.

Fifteen-year-old Marie Mulder of North Highlands, Calif., won the 800 in 2:10.2, followed by Sandra Knott of Cleveland, Lynn Graham of Pasadena, Calif., took the women's shot with Cynthia Wyatt of Buffalo, N.Y., second, Cherrie Sherrard of Oakland, Calif., and Tammy Davis of Frederick, Md., were one-two in the hurdles.

Super Effort

It was a super effort for the American girls. Miss Knott ran her fastest 800 of the year. Miss Sherrard tied the American record in the hurdles. On Saturday, RaNae Bair of San Diego, Calif., set the American record in the javelin with 184 feet, 11 1/2 inches and Janell Smith, an 18-year-old from Fredonia, Kan., ran the fastest 400 ever by a U.S. woman.

In the men's division, the highlight was a 7 foot, 1 1/2 inch high jump by Otis Burell of Los Angeles.

Warner Edges Buckstaff for Yachting Title

OSHKOSH (AP)—Tom Warner of Minneapolis edged Clyde Buckstaff of Oshkosh as he captured the Inland Lakes Yachting Association A-Boat Invitational on Lake Winnebago with 3,374 points.

The four-race weekend series, with each victory worth 1,000 points, concluded late Sunday with Buckstaff finishing with 3,367 points.

Eric Isaacson of Neenah was third and Bill Benzen of Lake Geneva fourth in the field of 15.

Packer Flanker Bob Long makes quite a splash as he tries for this pass during Green Bay's intra-squad game at Lambeau Field Saturday night. Defensive backs Bob Peter and Wally Mahle come up to provide the cover. The offense won, 29-0. The game was played in a downpour most of the way. (AP Wirephoto)

Braves' O'Dell Making Bid For Comeback Honors in NL

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Billy O'Dell, a left-hander who finished last season with a sore arm, a sick earned run average and an uncertain future, is bidding for comeback of the year honors while helping keep the Milwaukee Braves in the National League pennant scramble.

O'Dell, acquired by the Braves in a February trade that sent catcher Ed Bailey to the San Francisco Giants, made his 45th and 46th appearances of the season Sunday as the Braves defeated the Houston Astros 8-5 and 8-3 to move within two games of first place.

In the first game, the southpaw came on to strike out the menacing Jim Gentile for the final out in the ninth inning, leaving two runners on.

Gentile was again the batter when Braves' Manager Bobby Bragan brought on the 32-year-old reliever in the second game. It was the fifth inning, the score was 4-3 and the Astros had the potential tying and go-ahead runs on the bases.

"It was the same situation as in the first game," said O'Dell's catcher, Gene Oliver. "In the first game, O'Dell got him on a next four innings and was credited with throwing back home during good curve ball. This time he hit with the victory, his seventh in the winter and never even threw him a fast ball on the in-enth against four defeats. In the called to find out how I was side corner."

Gentile, known as a guess hit, earned run average, which arm was dead." stood at an alarming 5.40 last season, to a sparkling 1.91.

Credited With Win This first game save was his 13th of the year. O'Dell, whom Bragan refers to as Mr. Ice Water, cut off the me about the trade," said O'Dell, "was that the Giants knew mind full-time bullpen duty.

The new gleam in Johnny Led by a resurgent Mickey Keane's eye may be the last glimmer in a vanishing American League pennant race.

"I don't think the race is over," the New York manager said Sunday after the sixth-place Yankees' second straight 6-5 victory over contending Detroit. "But we all know an eight-game lead is pretty good at this stage. It will take a pretty good run by somebody to catch the Twins."

Although the Yankees, 17 games off the pace with only 40 wins, appear to be out of it, they'll have a chance to forestall a Minnesota runaway in a three-game series against the first-place Twins beginning Tuesday night at New York.

The Twins ran their winning streak to five and pulled eight lengths ahead of second-place Baltimore by blanking Boston 8-0 Sunday on Jim Perry's two-out doubleheader with Kansas City, total of 13 in his last six starts, for fifth place with Chicago, 11½ games off the lead.

enth and breezed to his eighth victory in 10 decisions. Tony Oliva sparked the Twins' attack with four hits while Don Mincher knocked in three runs with a triple and single.

John O'Donoghue checked Baltimore on four hits until the eighth inning, when Jack Aker came on to end a three-run rally, as the A's gained a split of their doubleheader. Mike Hershberger doubled in the deciding run in the sixth inning.

The Orioles struck for five runs in the ninth inning of the opener with Norm Siebern, whose two-run homer in the previous inning had tied the score, singling across the go-ahead run.

Chico Salmon's double touched off a five-run Cleveland rally in the seventh that broke up a 1-1 pitching duel between winner Sonny Siebert and Chicago's Gary Peters. The White Sox came back with one run in the eighth and two in the ninth before reliever Gary Bell got the last out.

Two-run singles by Jim King and Mike Brumley keyed a five-run Washington eighth that overhauled the Angels. Ryne Duren and Ron Kline combined for five innings of scoreless relief after Al Spangler had paced Los Angeles to a 4-1 early lead with three singles and two stolen bases.

Alice's Queen struck an imperious, despotic pose. There was no appeal possible. The King, the Queen and the executioner were present, in addition to the prisoners, of course. And tearful Alice. But these were all.

No jury, no public, no publicity. That last, most significantly. No newspaper reporters. Newspapers have no place in an autocracy. In Alice's chilling wonderland any spontaneous reaction — even applause, was "immediately suppressed by the officers of the court."

Not so in our day, in real-life America, 1965. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the rights of a public trial, says the Sixth Article of the Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution.

Not only is the accused assured a public trial, but, so people may know what is happening, newspapers must report these trials.

Freedom of the press? No. This is responsibility of the press . . . a solemn duty to report to the people the activities of the courts of the people.

Newspapers have no special importance as newspapers. Only as regards the services they render the reading public. Newspapers have no extraordinary rights. People do. And newspapers, with the stark basic drama of black and white, protect these rights.

Men have the right to a public trial and the right to know what happens in courtrooms. These are rights written into the Constitution and affirmed by the Supreme Court in 1829 when Mr. Justice Bagley wrote: "It is one of the essential qualities of a court of justice that its proceedings should be public."

The light of publicity reveals much that would otherwise flourish foully in the dark. It is the bright white light which searches out the dark corners of abuses wherever they may occur.

Buffalo Bills Hand Patriots 23-0 Setback

Cookie Gilchrist Scores 2 Touchdowns, But Denver Loses

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American Football League champion Buffalo Bills are getting a boot out of Billy Joe but they could do without some of Pete Gogolak's kicking.

Gogolak, who has been kicking about his contract and has threatened to play out his option, booted three field goals in his soccer-style fashion, and Joe rambled 38 yards for a touchdown Sunday as the Bills opened their pre-season schedule with a 23-0 victory over Boston.

But Gogolak and Joe, acquired from Denver in a trade for Cookie Gilchrist, are on different sides of the field when it comes to expressing their thoughts about being with the Bills.

"As of now I'm playing out my option," said Gogolak, who kicked 19, 30 and 44 yard field goals against the Patriots. "It's an unfortunate situation but I feel what I'm asking for is reasonable."

Championship Club

"When you're with a losing club," said Joe, "the morale's bad and you flow into the groove. This club is champion in every way and it rubs off on you. It's nice to hop on that kind of bandwagon."

Joe may wind up leading it. Slammed down to 235 pounds, and fully recovered from an operation to remove calcium deposits on his feet, Joe gained 61 yards in seven carries against the Patriots and also grabbed three passes for 25 yards.

Gilchrist, meanwhile, scored two touchdowns on short runs but Denver lost to Kansas City 30-24 in other AFL games. Don Trull stole Joe Namath's thunder as Houston defeated New York 21-16 and Kent McCloughan led Oakland to a 10-3 victory over San Diego.

Washington humbled Philadelphia 37-0 in the only National League exhibition with a 99-yard touchdown pass from rookie Rich Badar to rookie Jack Dean putting the finishing touches on the romp.

Tom Brooker kicked three field goals and Pete Beathard passed for two touchdowns as the Chiefs beat a 20-3 halftime lead and held on against the Broncos. Abner Haynes, who played with Kansas City last year, got off an 89-yard that set up a touchdown for his new Denver teammates.

Bonus Baby

Trull, a high-priced 1964 bonus baby, connected for three touchdowns passes — 30 yards to Charlie Frazier and 55 and 48 to Sammy Weir — as he completed nine of 12 passes for 225 yards. Namath, the Jets' $400,000 quarterback, was unable to launch a scoring pass in a six-for-14 effort that gained 110 yards.

McCloughan, a rookie defensive back, scored the game's only touchdown when he intercepted a John Hadl pass in the second period and raced 42 yards. That gave the Raiders a 7-3 halftime lead although they failed to gain a first down and showed a total yardage mark of minus 11.

Elmer Selig Fires Ace at Ridgeway

Elmer Selig fired a hole-in-one on Ridgeway Country Club's 130-yard No. 13 Saturday en route to a 1-under-par 71. Selig used an 8-iron.

Playing in the threesome, were Tom Hadley and Russ Lakey.

Huarde Faces Big Task of Learning Play-Book of Jets

By MIKE RATHET
PEEKSKILL, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Namath is four inches ahead of John Huarde.

Despite Huarde's amazing performance in the All-Star Game and Namath's mediocre showing in an exhibition opener against Houston, $400,000 Joe leads $200,000 John by the width of a four-inch thick New York Jets' play book.

Namath has studied the mass of details a quarterback must learn for three weeks while Huarde has had only three days, including a four-hour session with Coach Weeb Ewbank, member of the Jets for the first day as he became a fulltime.

"Before John went to the All-Star Game we had a two-day session with him," explained Ewbank. "But he didn't have any work on plays. It was just basic quarterback information, like how to set himself. The first thing we're going to do is teach him some ball-handling."

"But you have to remember he can't get in three days what other people got in three weeks."

Huarde, sitting on the bench in full uniform minus shoulder pads, got an opportunity to watch Namath in action against Houston Saturday night as the Jets opened their American Football League pre-season schedule at Alexandria, Va., with a 21-16 loss to the Oilers.

Namath's ball-handling was smooth and deceptive, but his passing was spotty. He completed 6 of 14 passes for 110 yards, setting up the Jets' only touchdown when he combined with Bake Turner on a 48-yard play in the third period.

One talent appraiser, asked to comment on Huarde's performance against the Cleveland Browns Friday night at Chicago, said:

"Huarde seems to do everything wrong, but everything he does comes out right."

Passing almost unerringly with his sidearm delivery, Huarde came on for the All-Stars with 7½ minutes gone in the third quarter and the Browns leading 24-3, but for nine straight passes at one point and passed for two touchdowns in his debut against pro opposition.

He wound up the night with a 10-for-13 performance, gaining 137 yards and the Most Valuable Player trophy.

Ties Record With 287 in Milwaukee; Torleumke Second

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — "It's great to finally win a tournament," said a tired Marlene Hagge after capturing the Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament Sunday with a record-tying 72-hole total of 287.

The 31-year-old blonde from Pensacola, Fla., who collected $1,875, was the only one to shoot sub-par golf for the four-day event.

Her rounds of 71-71-72-73 on the 6,508-yard, par 72 North Shore Country Club layout equaled the 287 carded by Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio, Tex., in 1963 when she won the Open.

High, unpredictable winds and the rain and fog of the final day hampered all but Mrs. Hagge, for whom victory had been elusive this year. She had finished second in five events, but won only the Beaumont, Tex., Open.

Judy Torleumke, the 20-year-old stylist from North Key Largo, Fla., was runner-up, five strokes behind at 292. She collected $1,475.

Judy's final round—a 68—was the best of the Open by two strokes.

Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., and Sandra McClinton of Mineola, Tex., tied for third with 296s and each earned $1,100.

Mrs. Whitworth was alone at 297 followed by Margie Masters of Victoria, Australia, and Sue Maxwell of Tulsa, Okla., with 298s.

2 Drivers Lose Lives in Races

Candlestick Course 'Most Dangerous,' Veteran Claims

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two drivers were killed in the Candlestick Park road races over the weekend and one of the nation's top racers called the course at the home of the National League baseball Giants the most dangerous he has ever driven.

Bart Martin of Hayward, Calif., died Sunday in a fiery crash into a utility pole. Ken O'Neill Jr. of San Jose died Saturday when his racer lost a wheel and flipped over a guard rail.

Phil Hill, only American ever to hold the world's racing championship, said after Sunday's race over Candlestick's parking lot and access roads that the course is the most dangerous he has ever driven. Observers called sections of the course bumpy and undulating.

Hill led the production racers in Sunday's co-feature until a broken axle sidelined his Cobra-Ford.

Officials stopped the race in which Martin was killed and cancelled the only remaining race and a victory banquet planned for Sunday evening.

Martin, in his Brabham, Ford, had taken over second place in the sixth lap of the modified championship race when the accident occurred. He was trailing the Chevrolet-powered Chaparral II driven by Jim Hall of Midland, Tex.

Martin apparently lost control of his racer going into the fifth beat St. Pius, Appleton, 6-1, as turn near the center field fence. The car skidded sideways at hurled St. John to a 3-1 victory about 100 miles an hour through hay bales set up to protect drivers and slammed into a utility pole.

High tension wires broken by the impact ignited fuel from the racer and the area was engulfed in flames. Several spectators received minor burns.

Don Wester of Monterey, Calif., won the production championship co-feature run just before the fatal modified championship race.

Art Lamers Wins Senior Tourney

KAUKAUNA — Art Lamers won the Senior Golf Tournament at Fox Valley Golf Club Saturday after a 3-way play-off. The finalists finished 18 holes of play with a net score of 68, two under par.

Lamers won the match on the 19th hole. Earl Schuler and Norbert Fassbender battled to the 20th hole before Fassbender finished in second place. Schuler was third and Jerry Lamers finished fourth with a net score of 69. Three golfers tied for fifth with even par scores.

The event was limited to 36 members after several players failed to report because of inclement weather.

Neenah's Salm Hurls No-Hitter in Tourney

Jack Salm pitched a no-hitter with the finals scheduled for Saturday at St. Gabriel, Neenah, defeated St. Bernadette, Appleton, 3-1, in the Church Softball Tournament sponsored by the St. Paul Church, Appleton, activities committee at Telulah Park.

St. Gabriel advanced to the semi-final game which will be played at 1:30 p.m. Saturday against Sacred Heart, Oshkosh.

St. John, Mishicot, advanced into the finals by nipping St. Paul, Appleton, 1-0, Sunday, despite Glen Nau's 1-hitter. St. John pushed across a run in the first inning without a hit and held on behind the 4-hit hurling of Jim Manges to get the win. It was the only game played in the rain-curtailed program Sunday.

St. Paul will play in the third-place game at 2:30 p.m. Saturday against the loser of the St. Gabriel-Sacred Heart contest.

Are Rejected

Most Never Inducted
For Failing Medical,
Mental Examinations

WASHINGTON (AP) — For those who have a sudden, personal interest in the new and bigger draft quotas, there is this thought: The odds are a shade better than even that, should your number be called, you will be rejected by the military's examiners.

This estimate is based on statistics compiled recently by the Army surgeon general's office on results of "examinations of youths for military service" last year.

During the year 1964, the report shows, 847,511 draftees were given pre-induction examinations, and 47 per cent were accepted.

Of the 53 per cent who didn't qualify, 22.2 per cent failed the medical examination; 18.2 per cent failed mental tests; 11.4 per cent were rejected because of "training ability limited;" 1.5 per cent were out because they were disqualified under both medical and mental standards; and 1.7 per cent for administrative reasons. This last group is described as those "found morally unfit."

The purpose of the medical tests, the report explains, is to eliminate individuals with medical defects of such degree as to "make it impossible for them to perform their military duty" and to exclude those who might require prolonged hospitalization and eventual discharge after they had been taken into service.

The surgeon general's report commented that historically the standards have been viewed in terms of combat duty and that while this philosophy still persists, "the criteria for medically determining 'combat fitness' have obviously changed with the changing techniques of warfare."

In some respects, the report said, present procurement standards are more liberal than the standards of World War II.

Sneers at Tax Cut
Ignore Key Factors

BY SYLVIA PORTER

It is becoming commonplace to scoff that our 1964-65 federal income and excise tax cuts are being eaten up by steep and continuing increases in state and local taxes in about every form that our local legislators can dream up. "What we're saving in lower federal taxes, we're losing in higher state-city-schools, roads, water and sewer facilities and a long list of other state-local services are still soaring.

Yet, though the complaints appear valid on the surface, they ignore three vitally important points. If you will weigh these points objectively, you'll have a different perspective on the tax pattern.

(1) The first vital point is that state-local taxes would be going up anyway—and were it not for the federal income-excite tax cuts, the pinch on our pocket-books would be far worse than it is.

Few—if any—state-local governments are slapping on new or higher taxes just because the federal cuts have given them leeway. They're imposing the taxes because they must to pay for imperative projects. They can raise funds only by borrowing or taxing and legal financial limits on borrowing are compelling them to turn to taxes. If the new and increased state-local taxes were coming on top of unchanged federal taxes, you'd really be feeling the squeeze.

Stimulates Spending
(2) The second vital point is that the higher state-local taxes are financing higher spending at the state-local level. The overall impact of this spending on our economy is stimulating.

This is a subtle point, but perhaps this simple illustration will help explain it. Say you save $10 in federal taxes and you spend $5 of this $10 on building materials which you'll use yourself. Your spending of this $5 benefits the manufacturers and retailers of the materials, the workers making and selling the materials, etc. But say that $5 of your $10 federal tax saving is taken from you by your state-local government to buy building materials which they'll use on projects. Your $5 is being spent indirectly, but it still benefits the manufacturers and retailers of the materials, the workers making and selling the materials, etc. The overall stimulus to the economy is the same whether you spend the federal tax savings or whether your state-local governments spend the federal tax savings.

(3) The federal tax cuts have buoyed our economy—increased jobs, paychecks and profits on which state-local governments have collected more taxes than would otherwise have been the case. Without this tax bonanza, our state-local lawmakers would have had to abandon many projects or boost our taxes even higher.

An alternative to ever-mounting state and local taxes may be a program to share more federal tax revenues with state and local governments to help finance urgent local projects. If international conditions permit, federal revenue-sharing well may be the next great breakthrough on the federal-state-local tax fronts.

county taxes," the critics say. "We're hardly better off than before federal tax-cutting began, and as far as our pocketbooks are concerned, it doesn't matter what collector gets our taxes. When Social Security taxes start rising Jan. 1, the squeeze will be even worse."

Superficially, these observations certainly appear valid. State, city, county taxes are skyrocketing from coast to coast. Pressed by zooming populations, relentlessly rising demands for essential and desirable projects, our local lawmakers are frantically slapping one tax after the other on us to pay for the projects.

This year seems to be a record year for state tax hikes—with more than half the states imposing new or higher taxes and with a broad-based sales tax clearly the favorite levy.

Highest Rate

For those of us who live in New York City, the combined state-local sales tax rate as of Aug. 1 went to 5 per cent—equal to the highest sales tax rate in the nation. Cigarettes and gasoline are among the most popular products for tough sales taxes. No matter where you turn, you find state-local taxes on the rise—and needs for

Menominee Woes Blamed On History of Dependence

Long History of 'Paleface' Control Began With Friendly French Rule

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

KESHENA — Often it is said that the Menominee Indian troubles today are substantially the result of too much government control and supervision in the past.

And termination of the control, it is contended, came too suddenly and drastically.

First of the palefaces to rule the Menominees were the French. The French exercised a casual kind of direction over them, bought their furs, introduced them to Christianity and hard liquor.

Some French 'Maidens'

The French and the Indians apparently got along quite well. Lonesome Frenchmen found the Menominee maidens attractive, and sometimes married them legally.

After the French came the English for a brief period, and the Indians switched allegiance. Then control over the Menominees passed on to the new government established by the 13 colonies.

As settlers arrived and took up land for farms, the Indians became a problem. The Indians always had: others wanted to resented encroachment on what they felt was their property: the whites couldn't understand why the Indians wouldn't go away.

The government did recognize the Indians had some rights, however. Negotiations with the Menominees resulted in the federal treaty of May 12, 1854.

Under its terms, the tribe agreed to relinquish all claims to lands around Green Bay in return for 233,902 heavily wooded acres along the upper Wolf River.

Some had balked at the deal, including Oshkosh and Keshena, who were head chiefs at the time.

Felix M. Keesing, author of a lengthy paper on the Menominees, wrote:

"The superintendent told them that unless they made the treaty they must go to the Crow Wing country. They had a great dread of this."

Move Reluctantly

Chief Oshkosh was quoted as protesting, "I do it without my consent; my tribe compels me to sign it."

So the Menominees, most of them, packed up and moved to their reservation.

There they did not live happily ever after. Bickering, factions and controversies interfered with progress. Some Indians preferred to live as they became a problem. The Indians always had: others wanted to resented encroachment on what they felt was their property: the whites couldn't understand why the Indians wouldn't go away.

The government exploited had always been the federal government. At least they knew what life was like under the Indian Bureau: they were afraid it would only be worse on their own."

Advocates of freedom were beaten temporarily but not subdued. Efforts continued. Meanwhile, the Indians and their friends in Washington pressed for a $1,000 per capita payment in settlement of a timber mismanagement judgment found against the government.

Rep. John Byrnes (Rep.-8th), introduced a payment bill in the 82nd Congress. It was reported by the Committee on Interior and Indian Affairs, but failed to pass.

House Agrees in '53

In the 83rd Congress in 1953, Rep. Melvin Laird, (Rep.-7th), gave it a try. That time the House went along.

But Sen. Arthur Watkins, Oregon Republican and Senate Indian subcommittee chairman, was a white man in the Menominee woodpile.

Watkins was for payment, but only on the condition that the Menominees would accept termination. More talk, and then: The Menominees were convinced contrary to my advice that they could not obtain withdrawal of their own funds from the treasury unless they accepted the principle of termination," Laird said. The present Menominee County is part of Laird's district.

Termination Goes Through

Sen. Watkins made a trip to the reservation, and talked to the Indians. The result, despite vigorous opposition from Laird and Byrnes, was a conference they had the opportunity in report providing for a $1,500 logging and petty transactions, payment — stepped up from $1,000 — and termination of federal control.

The bill, after further maneuvers, was adopted, and signed by President Eisenhower June 17, 1954.

April 30, 1961, the Menominee Reservation was history, and Wisconsin's 72nd county was born.

Menominee County, physically and socially, will be described in the next article.

Hub Caps Stolen

KAUKAUNA — Harland Green, route 1, Kaukauna, reported the theft of two hub caps to police Friday night. He said the hubs were taken sometime between 9 and 10:30 p.m. Friday while he was at a dance at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall.

Shifts in Chiefs

Gradually the chief's authority waned. In 1871 the head chief, Akwinem, son of Oshkosh, was found guilty of murder and imprisoned for a time. Government officials, ignoring general council custom, appointed a younger brother, Neopit, as successor.

A law code was established in 1880 by the government, with Neopit and two other chiefs installed as judges. Only 10 years later, the chiefs were persuaded to formally surrender their authority. The chieftainship was abolished, and the chiefs remained little more than figureheads.

In 1908 an Act of Congress provided for a modern sawmill at Neopit and operation of the forests on a sustained yield basis. But management was delegated to the Indian Bureau.

Trial Fails

The general council of the tribe was granted some authority over local affairs in 1908. It didn't go well, and soon the Indian Bureau people were back as strong as ever.

In the climate that prevailed, leadership, initiative and responsibility could not flourish. Not all whites the Indians had contact with were brothers in spirit and deed. Some whites would cheat and exploit when they had the opportunity in logging and petty transactions, and the Indians remembered.

Pressure for Freedom

Some 30 years ago pressure began to build up, from Washington as well as the reservation, to give the Menominees their freedom. A proposal in 1933 under the Indian Reorganization Act was overwhelmingly favored, but the vote was reversed at a general council in 1935.

They had begun to be afraid, declared R. R. Sady, another historian of the Menominees. "The Menominee decided that on their own they would lose more than as wards of a benevolent and protecting government. The years of dependency were bearing their fruit," Sady wrote.

13th Annual Festival Has Successful Debut

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

FISH CREEK—Rain and chill, lowering weather robbed the opening of the 13th annual Peninsula Music Festival of its customary festive atmosphere over the weekend, but it failed to make the slightest dent in the artistic quality of the event. The smallest inaugural audiences in many years were treated to a pair of exemplary programs.

Saturday night soprano Helen Boatwright charmed a thoroughly appreciative attendance with a superlatively sung Festival debut. Sunday afternoon a resounding new note was struck when classical dancing was offered for the first time with equal success.

Helen Strassburger came home Saturday night. Well, maybe not exactly home but, considering how far Helen Boatwright has traveled in her career, a hundred miles or so is practically next door.

The Sheboygan-born soprano made her debut on the inaugural Peninsula Music Festival program and scored a solid, well deserved success. In the process she helped the Festival launch its 13th year on its usual high plane of quality.

Mrs. Boatwright will sing again Wednesday evening when she joins tenor Stanley Kolk and baritone Katsuomi Niwa in rarely heard performances of Stravinsky's "Pulcinella" and Debussy's "L'Enfant Prodigue." Those who heard her Saturday will be looking forward to her other in the tradition of 19th century classical ballet. They

Many Possible Causes Of Infertility in Males

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.
Dear Dr. Molner Please discuss treatments to increase fertility in men. Approximately how long does it take to build up the sperm count enough to cause pregnancy? My husband has only 30 per cent motility — Mrs. J. B.

There are different causes, different treatments. Asking how long it will take to build up the sperm count is too difficult a question for any doctor to answer. The question is how quickly if at all the patient will respond to treatment.

Mumps, whether in childhood or later, may (not necessarily will) destroy fertility. If both testes are affected, there is no treatment to restore fertility. If only one is affected, fertility remains. Another cause is undescended testes, unless this is corrected early (by teen-age at least) sperm production will be nil.

A defect in the tube which conveys sperm from the testes is another possibility. Sometimes this can be corrected surgically.

Insufficient thyroid activity may be involved. Use of proper hormones can be very helpful in such cases.

Naturally, general health is important.

Abstinence Helpful

Sometimes — in fact, frequently — a period of abstinence from sexual activity allows the sperm to increase in number.

The motility or activity of the sperm is one thing. The number of sperm cells is another. Only one healthy sperm cell is required to cause pregnancy if that cell reaches and penetrates an ovum. Yet Nature arranged things so that millions of cells are released at one time. The number and the motility or activity are different factors, but if the sperm count is increased, the chance of finding more active cells also is increased. Hence the count is a good guide but isn't necessarily the whole story.

The sperm count can vary, so don't rely on a single examination. Several counts should be made to be sure that a deficiency really exists.

Dear Dr. Molner: I think my husband has emphysema, so please write about this disease and the diet for it. — Mrs. E. G.

If you think he has emphysema, get him to your doctor. After that, send 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my booklet, "What to Do About Emphysema." Once you understand the nature of the disease, you'll see why it isn't something that will be helped by any special diet. Emphysema is a lung condition.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of all the germicidal mouthwashes? I think the more germ-proof you are, the more cancer-prone you are. Sometimes the cause of bad breath is from eating too much sweets and starches. Sugar ferments and this is the cause of bad breath. — M. F.

Are you asking me, or telling me?

Mouthwashes can freshen the mouth and remove some debris that causes odor. Rinsing your mouth with water will do some of that, too. If you like mouthwash, use it, but you can't get rid of all the germs in the mouth.

I don't know a shred of evidence to support your notion about cancer. As to your theory on bad breath, certainly sugar or protein material ferments and provides a good medium in which odor-producing germs can thrive. But there is a great deal more to bad breath than sugar and starches — onions, tobacco, infections, trapped particles of other foods, etc.

Knowles on Pollution

It is not a disparagement of Gov. Knowles and his demands for more decisive action in surface waters pollution control and prevention to note the coincidence that he lives in the state executive mansion on the shore of a Madison lake which is sorely afflicted with noxious weed and algae growth.

It doesn't much matter what inspires the determination of public men to attempt to resolve public problems, or what calls their attention to their existence. What is important is that they recognize them and try to act.

The governor recently summoned the principal state administrative agency officials responsible for water protection and management for a discussion of the avenues for more forceful state action for the protection of the purity of our public waters. He wants, he said, to present a bold new legislative program to the legislature in the fall. There were hints in the proceedings that he was not entirely satisfied with the response of the administrative authorities. His public statement afterward emphasized that he wants action, not more studies.

For their part, the officials responded predictably. They reacted with open hostility to the idea of administrative reorganization of the existing state water protection work, as an example.

There is a characteristic observation among officials of government that there are few problems confronting them that more money won't cure. The governor is plainly toying with the idea of asking for a stronger abatement and prevention program in the field of water pollution by recommending substantial increases in appropriations, perhaps something on the order of the pending Borg bill which would put the state into the grant-in-aid business with the national government to encourage municipalities to act upon their local problems.

Yet any private citizen contemplating these matters must have his doubts about the effectiveness of the agency proliferation in water regulation and management that exists in the state government today. These are not easy questions to judge. But we are sufficiently acquainted with the habits of mind of officialdom to know that resistance to change is virtually automatic. The governor here would do well to consult experts a step removed from the scene, for an objective opinion. For the rest, it is crystal clear that any significant diminution of water pollution problems in the state as a whole will require vast expenditures of public money. Given the costly demands of scores of other state and local services, there will be required a considerable effort in taxpayer persuasion. The governor, whose political experience is considerable, is quite obviously starting that campaign now.

Coordinating Education

One of the accomplishments of the Governors' Conference in Minneapolis in July was the support of the majority for some sort of clearing house among the various states for innovations in education.

The proposal was pushed by James Conant, first in a book, Shaping Education Policy, then to the White House Conference on Education earlier in the summer and most recently at the Governors' Conference. Its real aim is to create some sort of an interstate commission for "planning a nation-wide educational policy." The aim of such an organization would be to make more equal the various educational programs throughout the nation as well as to put together top ideas in new programs.

Education has been traditionally—and jealously—the responsibility of local and state government. The major bugaboo to federal funds for educational projects has been federal control. But to an increasing degree the federal funds and the federal control have been growing. And the biggest reason has been the failure of local and state officials to recognize the needs of education.

Too many school boards concern themselves only with building and raising the money. Too many legislatures prefer to keep the schools the way they were 30 years ago. This has not been true of Wisconsin but there are vast differences between educational opportunities in many southern rural schools, for instance, and in California schools.

Wisconsin's Department of Public Instruction has encouraged changes and innovations in education in an effort to improve opportunities at all levels. The recent bill to create community colleges and the law making regional vocational and technical schools possible are other examples of this state's open mindedness toward new projects. But this is not true in all states. Cooperation in an interstate commission can encourage changes elsewhere.

Chile Seeks European Aid

When the Monroe Doctrine was conceived it was aimed primarily at discouraging European countries from trying to take over governments in this hemisphere, especially in Latin America since the young United States already had demonstrated its ability to take care of itself. Now the government of Chile is proposing bringing back the influence of Western Europe. Of course this does not mean the establishment of colonial control. Chile is seeking economic assistance from another source than the United States.

The proposals come from the Christian Democratic regime of President Eduardo Frei Montalva who decisively defeated a coalition of Communists and Socialists last year. Specific proposals have not yet been outlined but apparently they would seek to make the Alliance for Progress a multinational program rather than sponsored only by the United States, a cutting of tariffs by the Common Market toward Latin America, and long range, low interest loans from Western European nations. Frei feels that such action in Europe would tend to demonstrate the advantages for Latin Americans in ties with that part of the world instead of seeking them with Communist nations.

There are several advantages in the proposals. They probably would not drastically cut the United States contributions to the Alliance for Progress but in part they would remove the stigma from the donor. Our loans under the Alliance are tied to requirements for social and economic reforms by the Latin Americans, such as a progressive income tax and division of land. The requirements as usual have brought the charges that the United States is dictating domestic policies—which in a way it is and should as long as the money comes from Washington. But if this were on a broader scale, the requirements would not take on such a personal aura particularly in the long, long history of Latin Yanqui Go Home attitudes. The proposals also are in keeping with suggestions, especially by Senator Fulbright, for channeling our foreign aid more and more through international organizations such as the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Many of the wealthier nations in the world now have joined American programs of foreign aid to the underdeveloped or have presented their own. But there is very little such aid going from thriving Western Europe to Latin America which has, ever since the Monroe Doctrine, been considered almost exclusively in our orbit. An exception of course was the Nazi infiltration of some Latin American nations preceding and during the earlier years of World War II. There seems no good reason at this point for United States opposition to President Frei's proposals.

Crescent Against Negro Suffrage

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Aug. 12, 1865.

For the extension of Negro suffrage? No!

"This is our ticket! Why?"

"We are emphatically opposed to any and every scheme which looks to bringing the Negro upon a political equality with the White Race. We prefer that this government shall forever remain a government for and of white men."

Again: As a State we wish to hold out no inducements for the newly freed hordes of civilized barbarians who now roam the South, to migrate north. We wish them no harm, but we don't want them here either as freedmen, slaves or citizens.

The White Race and the Black Race can never assimilate. One or the other must in time disappear. That will be the fate of the White in the impending irresistible conflict.

We care not to extend the annihilation of the Negro by giving him equal rights at the ballot box and in places of official trust.

He is dying out now. Let us let him die. The inevitable result of emancipation, annihilation, will follow. The problem is being solved. The die is cast! Let no man seek to alter the destiny of the Black Race.

There's Still No Assurance Of Any Solution in Viet Nam

BY MAX FREEDMAN

The test of the new and more intensive war in Viet Nam will not come from what is said in this country. It will come from what happens in Viet Nam. If the war merely becomes bigger and nastier, then the new policy is a failure. The success of the new commitment will be measured by what it does to end the fighting. And on this essential point no optimism is possible.

Freedman
The long review ordered by the President has been careful and exhaustive. For example, the President has not been satisfied with the collective views of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He has also obtained their individual opinions of the military situation.

In summary, the general verdict, by both the diplomatic and military advisers, is that the situation is desperate without being hopeless. As so often happens in matters of this kind, the alternative, by being so stark and unmistakable, in itself compels the adoption of a policy.

IT'S DOMINO THEORY
For the review soon proved that refusing to enlarge the commitment would mean defeat in Viet Nam. One does not have to accept the "Domino Theory" in its extreme form to admit that such a defeat, coming after our repeated commitments, would have the most uncomfortable results for our entire strategic position in Southeast Asia. It is impossible to judge the new policy fairly except against these bleak frontiers of possible disaster. Once the problem has been defined in these terms, it does not require a leap in logic to realize that a bigger and more vigorous effort will be organized.

That still leaves unanswered two test questions. How do we know the new effort will succeed where our earlier efforts have failed? And are we being dragged by the momentum of our own failures into a steadily increasing war which we no longer can control?

The answer at least to the first question is that the new effort was Jim Haack, oldest player in point of service for the Menasha Marx. Edward M. Mischke, Appleton, received a patent on a device called a "carton bottom locking machine" designed to serve businesses and industries using the special paper-board containers. The patent was assigned to Marathon Corp. where Mischke developed the new machine.

Robert Sankowsky, Menasha, Lawrence College graduate working on his doctoral degree in the classics, was the narrator for Paul Green's outdoor drama "Wilderness Road," being given at Berea, Ky.

first question is clear. Not to accept certain larger risks at this time would be to invite defeat and disaster. Believing that to be true, the President and his advisers have taken these risks without being able to give any guarantees that the new policies will succeed. To talk of definite military assurances in the present situation is absurd.

Are we, then, being dragged to the abyss? Here some assurance, within limits, is possible.

To find the answer we must go back to the reasoning which produced the bombing raids on North Viet Nam. Those raids were never intended to end the war. Secretary Rusk and McGeorge Bundy, with their unparalleled diplomatic information, never believed that the raids would bring the Communists to the conference table, though they encouraged every effort to promote a negotiated settlement. The measured and limited attacks were designed to place North Viet Nam under the most stringent notice of the much larger damage that can and would be inflicted in certain circumstances. Therefore it follows that a policy of more intensive bombing does not amount to a confession of failure in the earlier policies. This enlargement of scale was inherent in American policy once the decision to go north was taken, and room was left from the start for this expansion.

GROUND FIGHTING KEY

The real uncertainty however concerns the fighting on the ground in South Viet Nam. By far the largest part of the trained and powerful army of North Viet Nam is still uncommitted to the struggle in South Viet Nam. It certainly is within the power of Hanoi to force Washington to raise the stakes by sending these troops into battle as guerrilla forces in the south. That is the desperate and unresolved hazard which faces the American commitment and which discourages all optimism.

The President's military advisers are not alone in thinking that the interests now at issue are so important that they justify an unbroken American military commitment over the next few years. That same judgment is held by many of the President's most trusted diplomatic advisers, with their knowledge of conditions in Southeast Asia. But that recommendation for a long-term commitment collides violently with the state of American public opinion.

Even now the Viet Nam war is remote and unpopular. What will happen when the casualty lists grow with ominous speed? It will be idle in these circumstances to talk of a solution through a war of exhaustion. The demand will then grow for a knockout blow even though it dreadfully raises the danger of a clash with Russia and China.

To many of these questions there are as yet no clear and definite answers. Despite the care with which present decisions have been reached, we have as yet only an interim policy and even that policy contains as many anxieties as assurances.

The Hazards of Letters to Editor

From The Louisville Courier-Journal

A reader of the Kansas City Star has written indignantly to that paper: "A few days ago I mailed you a letter. You published about half of it and that half garbled." The Star has published this protest, with an explanation that the original letter was too long to be accommodated in the space available. Moreover, "the meaning was not altered. The letter was only shortened."

We believe the Star's explanation is accurate. We also believe that the author is sincerely convinced a polemic masterpiece was ruthlessly butchered and vandically distorted. This sort of thing is one of the occupational hazards of a newspaper letter-column.

Bonding for Roads Will be Approved by Legislature in Fall

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—Among the important items of unfinished business when the weary Legislature temporarily adjourned its proceedings was the state highway system construction acceleration bill involving a new kind of bonding program for the state. But the failure of the lawmakers to act on the proposal cannot be interpreted as weakness of the plan. A fair assessment would suggest that the highway construction-bonding blueprint, novel as it is, is as likely to be enacted in the fall as any of the major issues deferred by the legislators.

The measure was brought in belatedly, probably because the administration hesitated to introduce it before the resolution of the awkward stalemate about the general budget deficit and the means of breaching it.

But a solid sign of its support was indicated, when the bill finally made its appearance, by the fact that 54 members of the Assembly in both parties signed their names as authors, and that a near-majority of the state senators added their signatures as co-authors.

The public hearing held just before adjournment, moreover, showed a respectable measure of support from representative interests and geographic areas, and nominal and routine opposition.

WHAT IT IS

The highway bonding program is a deliberately modest version of the bolder and more ambitious plan presented a year earlier by the Reynolds Democratic administration, which was rejected more because of its size and costs than out of public resistance to the idea of highway improvement as such.

Indeed, the authors have been so cautious in drafting their plan that there may be some reservations among the customary highway boosters because of its timidity. It would probably expand highway construction budgeting by about $15 million a year, or perhaps one-sixth, through the device of pledging future construction receipts for interest and principal on bond issues to be sold through the now familiar quasi-public building corporation.

Some objections were made at the hearing to the use of "dummy corporations," as they are familiarly called. Several of the critics said they support more highway building, but they don't want the deceptive device of the building corporations. They were earnest objections. But there is a considerable doubt, on the record, that there is any substantial public reserve about those corporations. Surely the criticisms thus far made have fallen on consistently deaf ears, both within and outside the Legislature.

THE MEANING

The bonding for acceleration of construction plan was born out of a conviction, on the one hand, that revision of the present highway fund distribution is politically impossible, and that additional road user taxation is unpalatable and untimely.

The state highway administration asserted at the Assembly hearing on the bonding bill that its enactment would defer the enactment of higher motor fuel or other highway user taxes.

A corollary, of course, is that the bonding program will ultimately produce the pressure for new road user taxation that will be hard to deny. In a future time, perhaps half a dozen years hence, when current construction budgets are curtailed because the money equivalent is needed to pay for bonds representing roads already built, there will be a demand for replenishment through revision upward of user taxes. Thus the bonding proposal contains within it a pledge of future legislative action. But there is nothing particularly novel about such commitments upon legislators not yet elected. It is done regularly in education, welfare, conservation and the other major tax-consuming obligations and responsibilities of the state.

This Is How Creative Person Spends His Day

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

My recent response to the question "What do you do when you don't feel like writing a column?" reminded me of Persistent Question No. 2, which is "How do you spend your day?"

Possibly because the creative process seems so vague and mystical to the layman, writers, painters, and composers are forever plagued with this query.

Taylor

The best answer I have ever heard, in extenso, was made by Erik Satie, the fine French composer, whose description of a "typical day" appeared in a Parisian music magazine about a half-century ago. It went:

"I rise at 7:15. I am inspired from 10:25 to 11:47. I lunch at 12:11 and leave the table at 12:14. A healthy ride on horseback around my estate follows from 1:13 to 2:53. Another session of inspiration from 3:12 to 4:07.

Dinner at 7:16
From 8:00 to 8:47, various occupations (fencing, contemplation, immobility, visits, reflection, dexterity, swimming, etc.) Dinner is served at 7:16, and I finish it at 7:20. From 8:00 to 9:59, symphonic readings (aloud).

"I go to bed regularly at 10:57. Once a week (on Tuesdays), I awake with a start at 3:14 a.m.

"My only nourishment consists of food that is white: eggs, sugar, shredded bones, the fat of dead animals, veal, salt, coconuts, chicken cooked in white sauce, moldy fruit, rice, turnips, sausages in camphor, white cheese, cotton salad, and certain kinds of fish (without the skin). I boil my wine and drink it cold, mixed with a fuchsia juice. I have a good appetite, but never talk while eating for fear of strangling.

"I breathe carefully, a little at a time, and dance only rarely. When I walk, I hold my ribs and look steadily behind me. My expression is very serious; when I laugh, it is unintentional, and I apologize very politely.

"I sleep very soundly, with only one eye closed. My bed is round, with a hole in the middle for my head to go through. Every hour a servant takes my temperature and gives me another.

I am an old subscriber to a fashion journal. I wear a white cap, white socks, and a white waistcoat. My doctor has told me to smoke. Do smoke, dear friend, he advises, otherwise someone will smoke in your place!"

Voting Rights Act to Alter Southern Tradition

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The South will never be the same again.

The Voting Rights Act of 1965 is throwing the door open for additional thousands of Southern Negroes to vote, should create a political revolution if followed up by Negroes themselves.

Immediately after President Johnson signed the act last Friday, his administration got busy to make it work.

The estimated number of whites of voting age in 11 Southern states outnumber Negroes about four to one — roughly 20 million to 5 million — but in some sections Negroes outnumber whites.

Eventually it can be expected that in those areas at least the Democratic will probably turn goes will be sending representatives to state legislatures and to Congress. As more of them vote white politicians will have to cater to them and their needs.

And the number of white Southern segregationists in Congress should decrease as more Negroes go to the polls because in many places they may hold the balance of power.

No doubt the picture of the South in the years ahead will undergo many changes.

For one thing many whites about doing so until now, will surely start going to the polls to offset the increase in Negro voters.

For a while at least many whites in the South traditionally were Negroes, 69.5 per cent to the Republican party while Negroes will cling to the Democratic since Johnson has made a big impression on them.

In time, because of candidacies issues and the circumstances and relationships in Southern life, party alignments may get fuzzed up by cross-overs by both races.

There were some tremendous differences in the number of Negroes registered in the Southern states. In Mississippi, which had the lowest percentage of registered Negroes, the figure for Negroes was 67 per cent while for whites it was 70.2 per cent. In Tennessee with the highest percentage of registered Negroes in the South the figures were 69.5 per cent whites 72.9 per cent.

If Negro leaders can boost Negro registration to 70 per cent for the South as a whole, the effect on elections, certainly in some areas within the states, will be indisputable.

The new voting act which authorizes the federal government under certain conditions to register Negroes will affect Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia, and about 34 counties in North Carolina.

Step by staggering step in this century the government, through one branch or another has moved to assure equal treatment for Negroes in schools, transportation, public accommodations, jobs.

But President Johnson when signing the new act said the vote is the most powerful craft site destroyed. Large fires were said to have been left by the Da Nang area, again with out Marine casualties.

Heavy Air Strikes

Heavy air strikes continued against suspected Viet Cong concentration and installations. Briefing officers said U.S. Air Force planes flew 126 strike sorties in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today and Vietnamese planes flew 72 combat missions during that period.

Officers said initial reports indicated that about 365 buildings were destroyed, 90 damaged and a number of sampans were sunk or damaged.

A large number of Viet Cong were also believed killed in the raid, an announcement said.

U.S. Navy and Marine Corps planes also carried out strikes in South Viet Nam against similar targets, spokesmen said.

Three 7th Fleet destroyers, the John R. Craig, the Orleck and the Hanson, pounded suspected Viet Cong targets over the weekend in areas ranging from 60 miles southeast of Saigon to near Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of the capital.

U.S. Air Force and Navy planes also continued strikes into North Viet Nam. One target again was the Vinh army barracks area 165 miles south of Hanoi. Eleven A4 Skyhawks, supported by five F4 Phantoms, made the attack, briefing officers said. Returning pilots reported 10 buildings destroyed, six damaged and one anti-aircraft site destroyed. Large fires were said to have been left by the planes.

Military Targets

The spokesmen said 23 Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs carried out six missions over North Viet Nam between noon Sunday and 9:30 a.m. today, hitting bridges and a military storage area about 65 miles southeast of Dien Bien Phu and bridges, storages areas and anti-aircraft site in the Vinh area.

The Navy and Air Force planes returned safely, spokesmen said.

U.S. forces in South Viet Nam totaled approximately 82,400 last Thursday, military officials reported. They said this included 10,000 Army, 4,500 Navy, 25,700 Marines, 12,000 Air Force and 200 Coast Guard.

American Marine guards accidentally killed a 13-year-old Vietnamese boy when they fired a warning shot into the air to disperse of mob of scavengers at the Marine trash dump in Da Nang, a Marine spokesman announced.

The spokesman said several hundred scavengers began rushing toward the dump and threatened to overwhelm the guards, who fired one shot into the air just as the Vietnamese boy jumped off of a Marine trash truck and into the line of fire.

It was the second time Marine guards were reported to have fired into the air to disperse scavengers. The other time a cow was wounded.

Erhard Blasts 'Old Stupidities'

DORTMUND, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard Sunday said the Social Democrats' campaign to retain power in the general election Sept. 19 ripped into what he called the "old stupidities" of the Socialists as he opened the Christian Democratic party's campaign.

The more socialism a country has, Erhard said, the less stable is its economy and currency.

Erhard also appealed for intermediate-range missiles to defend Western Europe but did not say who should control them.

Bodies Recovered From Lake After Airplane Crash

EAGLE RIVER (AP) — The bodies of four persons were recovered Sunday from the depths of a northern Wisconsin lake where their single-engine plane crashed and sank while trying to land at a fog-hidden airport.

Seven skin divers labored more than nine hours to bring the bodies out of the submerged wreckage of the craft in Boulder Lake about 20 miles northwest of here.

The plane plunged into the lake Saturday night while approaching the adjacent Boulder Junction Airport in the Northern Highland State Forest.

Killed were Donald D. Hickman, 59, a Milwaukee real estate executive who was the pilot, his wife, Mary, 61, president of a chain of shoe stores founded by her father, Dr. Curtis Wilcox, 71, Shorewood, a dentist and former president of the Greater Milwaukee Dental Association, and his wife, Olive, 63.

The four were flying to the Hickmans' summer cottage for the weekend.

broadside by the Dommer vehicle, traveling south on T. After the impact, the Christian car was shoved into the back end of a parked truck owned by Marshall Luethy, 1995 Brooks Rd., Oshkosh. It then careened into a garage, throwing the driver out. The Dommer auto hit a tree after the first impact, throwing the fatality victim and a passenger to the ground.

Passengers Injured

Seriously injured were Cheryl Christian and a passenger in the Dommer car, Judy J. Tripp, 31, Topeka, Kansas. They were taken to Mercy Hospital in the Moore Ambulance. Extent of injuries was not known.

Winnebago County Coroner Art C. Miller said Mrs. Dommer died of a compound skull fracture. She also suffered two broken legs.

The Christian car received an estimated $1,400 damage to both sides and rear and the Dommer auto was a 1961 convertible and station wagon. The parked one-half ton pick-up truck groes and received $50 damage.

Mrs. Dommer is survived by her husband, Elroy, one son, five daughters and three brothers.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Evangelical Lutheran Church, Oshkosh. Burial will be in the Winnebago Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Mueller Funeral Home, Winnebago, after 3 p.m. Tuesday and until 11 a.m. Wednesday, at the church until services.

home of Mayor T. Griffin Walker if one is not formed today.

"Unless we get a biracial committee, we'll be here a long time," said Willie Bolden, a field worker for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

He said Negroes had "no fight with the Ku Klux Klan. We got a fight with these folks in the courthouse."

Earlier Sunday, police arrested 22 demonstrators when they attempted to integrate two white churches. John Lewis, as a total wreck. The Christian head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, was among those jailed.

The demonstrators — 11 Negroes and 11 white persons — were charged with blocking a sidewalk and disturbing worship services.

the independence and defense of the territory of the other party."

Lee said nothing about seeking diplomatic recognition from Peking in charting a neutral course for his new nation, but said Singapore would trade with all nations.

Defense Cooperation

Rahman told Parliament in Kuala Lumpur that Singapore and Malaysia would continue to cooperate in defense and economic affairs despite secession.

In Singapore, riot police stood guard in Malay sections of the largely Chinese port ready for any demonstrations against secession.

Singapore's 1.2-million Chinese, 70 per cent of the population, began exploding firecrackers as soon as the break was announced.

Malay-Chinese rioting killed 23 persons in July, 1964.

The split is the outcome of political rivalry between the Malaysian Chinese, who dominate the economy of the federation, and the Malays who control the federal government in Kuala Lumpur.

The Chinese made about 42 per cent of the federation's population of 11 million and slightly outnumber the Malays. But the constitution gave 104 of the 159 seats in the lower house of parliament to mainland Malaysia, and the Malays had most of these.

Department of State Shuts Open Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department shuts off free public access to its building today for the first time in peace time.

In announcing this, a spokesman said the action is being taken to improve security after recommendations by a State Department task force on security.

The spokesman denied there have been breaches of security but said "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Two instances last month in which female employees complained of being molested in the building were not the basic reason for the new step, he said.

Officials at the other nine regular federal departments, including the Pentagon, said their headquarters buildings still may be entered freely by the general public during working hours.

These buildings generally have certain portions off limits to unauthorized visitors.

The State Department spokesman said the department had restricted entry similarly once during World War II, when it was quartered in a building next to the White House. He said he knew of no such restrictions before.

I told him that I thought peace time. The department was there was another way. It created July 27, 1979.
